Weekly Financial Review.

NEW YORK, July 28, 1894.

We have to report another week of unbroken dullness in Wall Street affairs. The market is entirely in the hands of a few professionals, who seek nothing beyond fractional "turns," enough to pay for the day's salt.

Naturally, the strange conflict at Washington over the duty on sugar creates some interest in Sugar Trust stock; but, even in that, the transactions are nominal. The attitude of the Sugar Trust interest has subjected the whole "tariff reform" question to uncertainty; and to that extent hopes based on the prospect of the passage of the Tariff bill have been thrown into confusion. In some measure, this is a disappointment of "bull" expectations. It seems inevitable, however, that some solution of the present legislative deadlock will be found within a few days. It is incredible that the conflict on this single item should be allowed to involve the defeat of the whole Tariff. There might be a great deal of political virtue in such an upshot, but there would be no statesmanship; and we have not yet seen the evidence that, in Congress, morality carries more force than politics. Each day will help to cool off the heated feeling at the Capitol; the imperative pressure of public opinion for putting an end to this tariff suspense and for freeing trade from its paralysis will compel respect in both houses; the Sugar Trust may deem it prudent to show some consideration for the country and may instruct its supporters to grant concessions; and, in the worst event, the House would be likely to yield leaving remedy to be sought in a subsequent effort to modify the terms temporarily conceded. With all these possibilities within easy reach, the last thing to be expected is the complete defeat of the Tariff bill, and the result most probable is an early settlement which will set the new duties in operation not later than September 1st, while possibly leaving the sugar duty subject to future change. This course is so manifestly the most eligible on grounds of party policy, and so clearly the best way out of the extraordinary complications that it seems entirely probable that a few more days will bring this struggle within sight of its end. It therefore seems safe to regard this hitch in tariff legislation as only temporary and to calculate upon the new tariff taking effect at a comparatively early day, with the effects that have heretofore been expected as likely to attend the new state of things.

The one thing the country now impatiently waits for, as a condition precedent to a more complete restoration of confidence, is the adjournment of Congress. The continued persistence of the outward flow of gold, however, suggests one measure of protection to the public finaces which should by all means receive attention before adjournment. The Treasury gold reserve is now close upon $60,000,000, which is but 12 per cent of its note obligations. How much farther the drain may be carried it is impossible to say; nor is there any assurance how far the banks may be disposed to help the Government under these circumstances. The really serious fact is that the Government has virtually ceased to receive any gold through its customs revenue. All outgo and no income is the present condition, and such a situation should not be tolerated one day longer than is absolutely inevitable. Neglect of taking proper action is all the more culpable because the danger is easy of remedy. Congress has the power to decree that a fixed portion of the customs duties shall be paid in gold, leaving the remainder to be paid in that metal or in the paper money now legally available for that purpose. Should a law be passed requiring 75 per cent of the duties to be liquidated in gold, the Treasury would receive 100 millions per annum more gold revenue than it is now getting; which would at once build up the gold reserve and enable the Goverment to meet the export demand without difficulty. It does seem that a remedy so entirely unobjectionable should be brought to the attention of Congress by the Secretary of the Treasury, and urged for immediate adoption. HENRY CLEWS

BORN IN A BUGGY.

A Strange Young Woman and Her Unfortunate Experience on Tuesday Afternoon.

No little excitement was caused on Bishop street Thursday afternoon by the unfortunate experience of a strange young woman, who gave birth to a child in a buggy before she could be taken to a place of refuge. She with her husband had driven into Bellefonte and being strangers in a strange land, with no money or friends, they knew not where to go or what to do, and the mishap occurred before any plans could be formulated for the woman's comfort and convenience. Under these distressing circumstances, the only alternative was for the borough authorities to render assistance, and consequently overseer J. I. McClure had the woman removed to the poor house where she was made as comfortable as possible and is now being kindly cared for. A reporter of this paper called on the husband of the unfortunate woman and from him gleaned the following story:

His name is George Hagar, and for the past fifteen months he has lived at Brownsville, Fayette county, where he worked in the coal mines. When the coal strike occurred a couple of months ago he was thrown out of employment and has not since been able to get any work in that locality. Starvation staring them in the face the husband and wife determined to go to the home of her parents in Elmira, N. Y., and having no money to travel by rail they did the next best thing by starting to drive the journey in a buggy. They left Brownsville on the 17th instant, and came through the southern counties, by way of Chambersburg to Gettysburg, where they rested one day, then on to Carlisle then northwest and through Lewistown and across the Seven mountains to Potters Mills. On all this trip they lived on the charity of the farmers of the country through which they passed, mostly camping out at night along the roadside, sometimes sleeping in barns, and but only two nights having found refuge in a house.

Mrs. Hagar stood the journey fairly well until the last few days when she began to experience unusual fatigue and discomfort. At Potters Mills on Tuesday morning a physician was consulted and he, apprehending nothing serious, gave the woman some medicine and the party continued their journey to Centre Hall. By this time the woman was suffering considerable and Dr. Jacobs was interviewed. He at once said her condition was critical and advised them to drive to Bellefonte as rapidly as possible. It was then after 12 o'clock and the trip was commenced. On the way the woman's agony was so great that several times she was compelled to get out of the buggy and lie down by the wayside. At three o'clock they reached Bellefonte and got up Bishop street as far almost as Haag's hotel, when they were compelled to stop and before the woman could be helped from the buggy she gave premature birth to a child, which was born dead. Dr. Hoy, being summoned, rendered the necessary attendance and as soon as possible the couple were taken to the poor house, where at a late hour last night the woman was resting easily. The dead child was buried by undertaker Naginey.

In speaking of the condition of the miners in the Fayette county region Mr. Hagar said that during the year he worked there he averaged but $8.75 a month. He said that since the strike the poverty and destitution is beyond description. Fully one thousand families were thrown out of houses and having no place to go are encamped in the woods and by the roadside. Mr. Hagar is an old soldier, having served two years in the 16th Pennsylvania Cavalry and fought in the battle of Gettysburg, through all the carnage and strife, and and this trip was his first visit there since that eventful struggle. As soon as Mrs. Hagar recovers the two will continue on their journey to Elmira, N. Y.

A Colored Boy Preacher.

The sensation in Atlanta, Ga., is the preaching of a thirteen-year-old negro boy, Charles Johnson, of Gibbs, La. He is of a light ginger-cake color. He was converted, he says, at the age of eight, and felt an immediate call. He is now going to a theological seminary, where he is taking a course in Bible study. He his none of the awkwardness of youth, and his voice is peculiarly deep. His thoughts are of a high character and are expressed in excellent language.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, July 30, 1894.

From Our Regular Correspondent.)

The free traders publicly bluster quite as loudly as they did a week ago, as to the House conferees holding out for free raw materials until the Senators are compelled to surrender, but their private talk and acting tells another story. Mr. Cleveland has discovered that he could not dictate to the democratic Senators in matters affecting the welfare of thousands of citizens of the states they represent, and he is said to deeply regret that he allowed the advice of Don Dickinson, the Michigan rainbow chaser, to outweigh that of Secretary Carlisle, who advised him not to send that letter. He hasn't changed his mind about free coal for the benefit of the Whitney syndicate; free iron for the Carnegie crowd, and protection for the sugar trust, but he has found out that he went the wrong way to get this unique combination of "tariff reform." He wants them as bad as ever, and some say he is willing to see all tariff legislation fail rather than not to get them, but he regrets having jumped on those who know how and do not hesitate to fight back.

Although the conferees held their first recorded meeting to-day since the bill was on Friday last, sent back to conference without instructions by the Senate, the democratic conferees spent all day Saturday and Sunday in trying to patch up the differences between the House and Senate, but as no satisfactory answer has yet been found to the ultimatum of the Senators—"take the bill as it is or you'll get nothing—" the status is unchanged. Some of the shrewdest observers are convinced that victory for the Senate bill is assured, and that the time of the democratic bosses is now principally taken up with arranging a series of more or less confusing changes in the bill, which shall make it seem that concessions were made on both sides, or as one man puts it: "finding a soft place for Cleveland to fall on." The House conferees are individually willing to hold out against the Senate, but the democrats of the House generally are not willing to keep up the fight and they have plainly shown their disinclination to fight Mr. Cleveland's battle for him.

Secretaries Gresham and Carlisle are doing their best to defeat the bill which provides that immigrants shall be inspected by U. S. Consuls, before being allowed to start for this country, and which was recently passed by the House and is now before the Senate Immigration committee. The principal ground for their opposition, according to their chief spokesman, Mr. Stump, U. S. Commissioner of Immigration, is that the bill, if it became a law, would stop all immigration. That argument will hardly defeat the bill, as there are many who believe that immigration ought to be stopped, for a time, anyway. Representative Stone, of Pa., the author of the bill, and by whose shrewd management it was engineered through the House in spite of the opposition of the chairman of the House committee on immigration, thinks it will be just the law that is needed; that it would shut out the undesirable, giving us only the class of immigrants who are always welcome in all countries.

Mr. Cleveland seems to have little difficulty in controlling the actions of democratic members of the House. Only the other day the democratic members of the House committee on Commerce were insisting upon the necessity for the adoption of the resolution authorizing that committee to make an investigation of the recent strikes, because they did not consider the law under which Mr. Cleveland appointed the Investigating Commission broad enough to furnish the necessary authority. Mr. Cleveland gave the chairman of that committee a hint that he thought one investigation enough, and straightway the democrats on the committee began to talk about the clashing that would be caused by two investigations and to indicate very plainly that the resolution was dead. Mr. C. would doubtless be willing to pay largely for a recipe that would enable him to control the Senators as easily.

No finer bit of sarcasm was ever got off on the floor of the Senate, than when Senator Manderson sent a fan to Senator Vilas, just before his name was called on the vote to instruct the Senate conferees to recede from the differential duty on refined sugar, to hide his face while he voted against a motion he had originally made himself and had only withdrawn after two lengthy and exciting democratic caucuses. He certainly must have felt like hiding his face when he voted for the sugar trust after having posed before the country as one of its most determined opponents. Senator Stewart's refusal to vote prevented the striking out of the differential duty.

The Senate Investigating committee is at a standstill because of its inability to get hold of one Battershall, a man who is said to have taken the orders of Senators for the purchase of sugar stock. As soon as Battershall found out that he was wanted and ascertained that he would be made to tell all he knew or go to jail, he took himself out of the country; at any rate he cannot be found, and rumor says he was supplied with money enough, by those who would be injured by his testimony, to make his trip a long and pleasant one.

To the Atlantic Coast and Return at $10 the Round Trip.

On August 9th next the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run another of its popular sea-shore excursions. These trips are planned for the express purpose of furnishing an economical opportunity for people living in Western Pennsylvania to visit some of the principal summer resorts of the Atlantic Coast. The tickets permit of a stay of nearly two weeks, and a choice of destination is allowed—Atlantic City, the most popular resort in America, Cape May, appropriately called the Queen of the Coast, Sea Isle City, the gem of the Coast, and Ocean City, last but by no means the least attractive of the places.

Special train will leave Pittsburgh on above-mentioned date at 8.50 A. M., arriving at Altoona 12. 25 P. M., where stop for dinner will be made, and reaching Philadelphia 7. 20 P. M. Passengers can spend the night in Philadelphia and take any regular train of the following day for the shore.

Foretelling the weather.

H. H. Clayton, of the Blue Hills Observatory, feels justified in announcing that it is now possible to foretell the chief features of the weather for many days or weeks in advance. He has for two months been making experimental forecasts, which have appeared in his home papers, with the result that in six weeks out of eight the warmest day occurred when predicted, the warm, dry period at the beginning of May was foretold in the latter part of April, and the cool, rainy period which followed was predicted a week in advance.

Mr. Gandell, of the Boston Scientific Society has verified Mr. Claytou's forecasts, and finds that 82 per cent. of them were accurate, and that the warm and cool periods come every time within 24 hours of the time predicted. If Mr. Clayton can maintain such results as these he will be credited with having made a great advance in the science of foretelling the weather, and it is interesting to find that he has arranged to issue a weekly bulletin at the end of each week foretelling what the weather will be during the coming week. Such information as this, if it is absolutely accurate four times out of five, will be of inestimable valne.

Dog Days.

These are the "doy days." They began July 2 and will end August 11. They have nothing to do with the dogs beyond making those animals uncomfortable, like the rest of us, from the heat. They get their names from the fact that Sirius, the brighest star in the constellation of the great dog, and called the dog star, on these days rises and sets with the sun. You can see Sirius any bright winter night It is a beautiful bluish star, as bright as Jupiter, and rises soon after Orion, the great giant who has stars for a belt and stars for a sword. The ancients, who did not know enough to discover that the world was round or moving around the sun, took notice that the days when the dog star kept peace with the sun, they had the greatest heat and they thought, therefore, that this star produced it.

Caught Sixty Fish.

On Friday night a number of the "court house ring," which inciuded John Q. Miles, W. F. Smith, W. J. Dukeman, O. Atwood, J. W. Rightnour and Harry Jackson, went down to the Bald Eagle valley to fish for bass. They were chaperoned by Mr. Hayes Lyman, of Milesburg, and could not have been under better leadership. "The "boys" had a good time, put in the greater part of the night and reported a catch of sixty some fish. Just how many of this number were bass and how many suckers our deponent did not relate.

—A tremendous amount of mail matter is handled in the Tyrone postoffice. From actual count and estimate, the office ties up and dispatches daily 11,320 letters, and sends 5000 more in direct packages thus dispatching 16,320 letters daily. There are 1,100 papers sent out daily. The estimates of mail received is 21,500 letters and 1,800 papers. The total amount of mail matter, therefore handled daily, on the average, at the Tyrone postoffice, is 37,320 letters, and 2,900 papers, besides numerous packages and registered mail.

The Pullman Strike.

It is to be regretted that the people of the United States should have to recover the use of their ordinary highways at the point of the bayonet, but it is better to recover and hold them in that way than to give up the control of them, even for a moment, to people so reckless and malicious, or so unutterably base, as those who have managed the great railroad strikes for the past ten years. The example of the pullman strike shows how false and dangerous are the doctrines in regard to workingmen which had gained so much credit and wrought so much misery with in the present generation. According to those doctrines, a man who works with his hands is not a man, but a babe, who must be provided with a clean house, not through the process of cleaning it with his own hands, but by having philanthropic people get up a subscription to hire some one to clean it for him; who must be amused with lectures, picture shows, and other distractions, at the expense of the public, or of amiable private persons, and whom it was right to encourage in every way to think that thrift, industry, sobriety and selfdenial were no longer necessary to one so favored, and that yelling and kicking, if long enough continued, were sure to bring him everything to which he might take a fancy. The lesson has not been lost; the babe of the nineteenth century, trained by the lullabies of the political economist, the dandling of the politicians, and the patient indulgence of the more rational part of the community, to combine the greedy helplessness of the infant with the strength and malice of the man, claws every day more viciously at what does not belong to him, and tramples more recklessly on the rights of other people. In the end, these rights must assert themselves, or perish in the worst of tyrannies; but a part of the harsh lesson by which they are defended should be reserved for the moonstruck philosophers and sentimentalists who have taught ignorant people that, instead of relying on their own exertions for improving their condition, looking out only to preserve and exercise their freedom to use those exertions, they are entitled to trample on the freedom of others in order to get what they wanted.—American Architect.

A True Picture.

Under the heading "Stop my paper" an exchange says: That is about the way a newspaper man is greeted every now and then by an irate individual whose corns have been accidentally trodden by an article he read in the paper, and his resultant rage causes him to rush to the editorial sanctum, or if the editor is a big man, he sends a postal card, ordering immediate discontinuance of his paper. Then he feels better, takes a drink and subscribe for the opposition sheet. There is however, a dark lining to his silver cloud. The editor did not beg him to reconsider his determination, did not turn pale or faint. He simply called out to his subscription agent to scratch that man's name off his list of subscribers and then he again resumed his work on an editorial giving advice to Cleveland as to how he should conduct his administration. All this strikes the outraged subscriber as curious, but he goes home firmly imbued with the idea that something awful is going to happen to that bold rash editor because he discontinued his paper. To his amazement and anger the paper appears again next issue with its accustomed regularity and there is not a line to denote the editor is laboring under a stress of mental anguish because a copy of the paper has been ordered stopped. The paper goes on in the calm, even tenor of its way; it does not have a receiver appointed and does not go into bank ruptcy; the editor does not commit suicide; the sun continues to shine, and the disappointed ex-subscriber, after waiting a little while longer for chaos to set in, hurries back to the office and his name placed once more on the subscription roll. Then he feels that a load has been removed from his conscience.

What It Cost to Swear.

Altoona Times: Railroad Policeman R. A. Fleck swore out a warrant Friday before Alderman Raymond charging Harry Strough with having used five profane oaths in West's hotel last Wednesday. It was developed at the hearing that evening that Fleck had arrested Strough's boy for riding freights, and Strough, senior, being somewhat happy, was angered to using oaths. The alderman convicted Strough of two oaths, which, with the costs, were worth just $5.01.

Jefferson County Coal Fields.

The Brockwayville Record says that all the crews in the coal fields in that region are making good time now. Empty cars are coming in freely, so that the order of 150 cars a day is fully reached. From fifty to seventy-five cars are also brought over the hill and turned over to the Erie. The Toby branch is still doing a good traffic. Cars have been scarce along back which necessitates an idle day now and then at the Northwestern mines, as the Erie's customers, Shawmut, Brock and Noble, are given the preference when cars are scarce. Shawmut is shipping about thirty cars a day, but the output at the Noble is small yet, only averaging four or five cars a day. The Brock has been loading from twelve to fifteen cars a day, which is good work considering its crippled condition by the loss of its power house.

—On Saturday thirteen members of the Altoona Wheelmen's Club journeyed to Tyrone by train where they were joined by eleven members of the Tyrone club and together the twenty-six cyclists made a run to this place, arriving here about 7.30 o'clock in the evening and putting up at the Brockerhoff House. During the evening they were entertained very socially and otherwise by the Bellefonte wheelmen at their rooms above the Centre county bank. The visiting cyclists were all good, jovial young gentlemen and enjoyed their trip very much. They made a number of short runs out of Bellefonte on Sunday returning to Tyrone in the afternoon in time to take the fast line home to Altoona.

Foster's Weather Outlook.

My last bulletin gave forcasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from July 29 to Aug. 2, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about Aug. 3, cross the western mountain by close of 4th, the great central valley from 5th to 7th and the eastern states about the 8th. This disturbance will be at its greatest force west of the Mississippi about the 4th and 5th. Rainfall will be deficient except in a few limited localities. This will also be an earthquake period. It will be noted that the great earthquakes at Constantinople July 9 to 13, occurred very near the predicted dates. From July 31 to Aug. 6 will probably bring as great earthquakes, as did the July disturbance. The warm wave will cross the western mountains about Aug. 3 the great central valleys about the 5th and the eastern [illegible]. The cool wave will cross the western mountains about the 6th, the great central valleys about the 8th and the eastern states about the 10. August will bring spots of drough in many places and corn and cotton will be inquired to some extent. The drouth will not be general, but, taking the whole of the United States and Canada, the month will average warmer and dryer than usual.

Route of the Central R. R. of Pa.

Mr. I. H. Manser, of Williamsport, is engaged writing up a description and historical pamphlet of the county traversed by the new railroad, as well as Sugar valley which is a prospective route. Mr. Manser has had considerable experience in this line of work as well as in editorial work in general. His principal object in the present work is to give an accurate and trustworthy description and brief history making it a valuable and handy reference book. Each town is described at length, its industries, manufactures, commercial enterprise, etc, The work will be out about August 20th or 25th and will be distributed gratuitously along the line for the advertising obtained. It makes a splendid medium, the work is mechanically well executed, the distribution is careful, and for reference it is reliable. Mr. Manser has thus far met with splendid success.

For Nervous Prostration.

'Squire J. H. Reifsnyder, of Millheim, Pa., is at present stopping with Davis Evans, 314 East Fourth street. Mr. Reifsnyder has for many years been prominent in business circles at Millheim, being a heavy stockholder in the Millheim Banking company, Millheim Turnpike company, Millheim Building and Loan association and the Millheim Knitting factory, besides owning two large farms and a number of properties in town. A little more than a year ago Mr. Reifsnyder was attacked with nervous prostration and since has been confined to the house. He has been treated by the best medical men of this country without any material relief. Last Thursday he came to this city and is now taking treatment from several of our most successful physicians. He says he feels better, and by the use of a cane is able to walk around.—Evening Journal, Williamsport, Pa.

A FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.

Two Prominent Citizens of West Pittston Killed Yesterday.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 26.—A most frightful accident occurred at West Pittston this morning that has cast a gloom over that town by the taking away of two prominent citizens in a horrible manner. A number of officials connected with the Lehigh Valley coal company, who have been on a tour of inspection, arrived at the Exeter mines at 10 o'clock a. m., which is one of the company's collieries, located on the outskirts of West Pittston. The party comprised Colonel Addison G. Mason, division superintendent of the Lehigh Valley coal company; William Wilson, inside foreman at the colliery, both of West Pittston; Robert S. Mercur, assistant division engineer, of Wilkesbarre; Joseph Burrell, an instructor in mathematics in the Lehigh university, and Jacob Gates, a miner, acting as guide.

After having inspected the workings they started for the surface and got upon the mine cage. The engineer was signalled to hoist, and when they were about fifty feet or more from the botto the cage guides in the shaft gave way and the bottom fell out, which precipitated them to the sump below. Gates, who is an old miner, felt the timber snapping, and before it gave way he grasped the side of the bunting and held on until he was rescued from his perilous position. Colonel Mason was instantly killed by the shock. The deceased was 55 years of age and one of the best known mine officials in this state. During the late war, for his bravery at the battle of South Mountain and other engagements, he was selected by General Robert E. Meade as a member of his staff, and at the time of his death was an honored member of the Loyal Legion. He leaves a wife, two daughter and one son.

Inside Foreman Wilson was seriously injured and died this afternoon. He was 45 years of age. He also leaves a wife and two children.

Robert S. Mercur is a single man, he was removed to the hospital where he is suffering from a broken ankle, a scalp wound and serious contusions about the body. He was unconscious until late this afternoon. It is thought he will recover.

Joseph Burrell was also sent to the hospital. He received contusions about the body and is badly cut on the face and neck. He was able to walk from the shaft to the ambulance, but from then on he became very weak. He will recover in a few days.

The party was ascending the air shaft when the accident occurred, as the main shaft was undergoing repairs. The air [illegible] and this accounts for the [illegible] of affairs.

In 1890 twenty men and boys were suffocated by gas in this colliery caused by the burning down of the breaker.

Death of General Pleasonton.

Philadelphia, July 26.—General A. J. Pleasonton died this evening from old age and exhaustion. Augustus James Pleasonton was born on January 21, 1808. General Pleasonton was educated at West Point. He resigned from the army, and possessing ample means, devoted most of his time to experiment, scientific and otherwise.

He attracted more attention by a publication on the "Influence of the blue color of the sky in developing animal and vegetable life" than by any of his other writings or experiments. He detailed the result of observations of the development of animals lodged in compartments partly covered with blue glass through which the rays of the sun passed. These experiments covered a period of ten years, the result being embodied in a lecture by the general in May 1871, before the Philadelphia societies for promoting agriculture. The address was followed by a craze forb lue glass windows.

During the civil war General Pleasonton was assigned to the command of the home guard of Philadelphia, which comprised regiments of volunteers who did not march beyond the limits of the state.

Sworn in as Deputies.

Houtzdale, Pa., July 26.—Orders were received here this week that all the salaried employes of the Berwind-White Coal Mining company were to be sworn in as deputies to protect the works of the company and the black legs to be imported The salaried employs of this company include all the weighmasters, mine bosses and other officials. All were accordingly sworn in and are now serving as deputies at the various operations.

Some of the bosses insist that, the forty cent rate, the men who were brought here to take the places of the striking miners are making good wages. These black-legs are same men whom the company imported to Punxsutawney to break the strike there, and they claim that they made $80 per month while in Punxsutawney.

This is at the rate of $4 per day, and as some of the best men who are practical miners could not make half that sum at the old rate paid before the strike, it is preposterous to say that greenhorns could do the amount of work.

Engines of Large Pattern.

The Pennsylvania railroad tested an improved locomotive built at the Altoona shops last week. The engine is a class "P" and number 804. She pulled six coaches between Altoona and Huntingdon, carrying a number of officials of the Pennsylvania railroad. There are many engines of this class on the road, bat this locomotive is of the latest model, the drivers being six feet and eight inches in diameter. The test was satisfactory in every respect.

Disarmed Strikers.

Uniontown, Pa. July 26.—After receiving Governor Pattison's inquiry in relation to the situation in Union county Wilhelm summoned the strike leaders to this place for consultation. President Barrett, Davis and McSloy came and met the sheriff and his attorney and chief deputies. Sheriff Wilhelm was empathic in his assertion that the men must be disarmed either by peaceful means or by force, even if troops have to be called out to disarm them. President Barrett said the leaders were as anxious as any one else that the men be disarmed, and he promised to co-operate with Sheriff Wilhelm in the movement.

Deputy Sheriff Richards went down to the Yough region with instructions to disarm all men found marching to the Scottdale convention. He was accompanied by Harrett, Davis, and McSloy. At New Haven he found fifty men headed by a company of sixty armed men. McSloy and Davis were dispatched to disarm the men. At the request of the leaders the men handed the Winchesters and shot guns to Burgess Newcomer, of New Haven Some of the men were so angry that they dashed their firearms to the ground, while about 100 members broke ranks and went home, declaring that they would go armed or not at all. Among the deserters was the drum corps. Nearly all the men carried revolvers.

A Heavy Hail Storm.

Clinton county was visited by quite a heavy hail storm on Thursday evening, and in speaking of it the Lock Haven Democrat gives the following as the damage done:

The storm covered the territory from Farrandsville to a point this side of Jersey Shore. There was no rain at Mill Hall, the dust was barely covered at Flemington and but few hail stones fell at Castanea. Many of the hail stones were as large as hickory nuts. The greatest damage was on the other side of the river from Queen's Run to the lower end of the city, taking in the townships of Woodward Dunnstable, parts of Castanea, Pine Creek and Wayne. The growing tobacco in these townships was completely ruined, the stalks being completely stripped. Between Queen's run and the river bridge the growers who lose heavily are: Robert Welsh, who had about fifteen acres in tobacco; J. Q. Wel[illegible] had two [illegible]; Del[illegible] Mrs. [illegible] A. S. Grow seven acres; W. [illegible] Hanna, seven acres; R. W. and May B. Hanna, six acres; Isaac Shafer, ten acres. There are many others below the bridge who also lose heavily. In addition to the tobacco, the corn and fruit were so badly damaged, and the oats in several places were pretty well threshed. The loss cannot be estimated with any degree of accurac.

Wallace Burt Hanged.

Doylestown, Pa., July 26.—Wallace Burt, the half-breed Indian, was hanged in the corridor of the county jail here at 10.53 o'clock this morning for the murder of the aged Rightley couple.

The execution was successful in every detail. The condemned man walked from his cell to the gallows in his stocking feet and ascended the steps unassisted. After the noose had been placed around his neck he made a brief speech, but did not refer to the crime. He said that he had made his peace with God and that he was a soldier of the cross. He never flinched while he was being manacled and closely watched every movement of the sheriff. He recognized ex-Sheriff Beans in the crowd and talked to him for a couple of minutes from the scaffold.

The drop fell at 10.53 and in thirteen minutes he was pronounced dead by the physician. The body hung almost perfectly still, the only motion being a slight twitching of the feet. His neck was broken.

Four Men Injured by Falling Piers.

By the falling of four twenty-foot wooden piers, which were being erected for a trestle over the coal siding of the Houtzdale branch railroad, at Big Run about a half mile from Osceola, on Thursday, four men were injured. James Harkenson, of Osceola, had one rib broken, a leg badly lacerated and his back badly hurt. James Steel, of Osceola, received serious injuries on the breast and shoulder and his lip was cut open. He was internally injured and is in the most serious condition of all. Homer Wagner, of Philipsburg, had his nose broken and face lacerated and was badly hurt about the body. Frank Kuhn, of Philipsburg, had his right leg sprained.

COLORADO TAR-AND FEATHER CASE.

Six Men Arrested for the Outrage Perpetrated on Adjutant-General Tarnsey.

DENVER, July 26.—Six men have been arrested for complication in the tarring and feathering of Adjutant General Tarnsey, at Colorado Springs—three in this city and there at the springs—and arrests are to follow. The prisoners are John A. Regan, who was turnkey at the jail, at Colorado Springs, on the night the outrage was committed; his brother—Michael Regan—an ex-deputy sheriff of El Paso county, and "Shorty" Allen, alias Thomas Gordon who was one of Sheriff Bowers' army of deputies in the Bull Hill warfare.

Allen is said to be the man who poked the gun at General Tarsney's face, at the Alamo, and applied the tar and feathers to his person. The three men arrested at Colorado Springs are J. J. Mullin, son of a wealthy Boston mine owner and a prominent society man Herman Rebbeke, who was a deputy sheriff during the Cripple Creek trouble, and Eugene Kinney, one of the hack drivers who took the party of masked men, with General Tarsney, to Austin Bluff.

It is said that Chief-of-Police Armstrong of this city, has succeeded in unraveling the plot against Tarsney through revelations made by ex Deputy Sheriff Parker, of El Paso county.

According to his story the plot was arranged in the ante-room of the jail, and Under Sheriff Bob Mullin, a leader of the Cripple Creek force of deputies, was the guiding spirit. J. B. Mullin, Parker says, furnished the money and Rebbeke bought the tar and feathers.

Parker is sure the money changed hands in the presence of Turnkey Regan. Parker saw Bob Mullin, J. J. Mullin, Shortly Allen, Herman Rebbeke, and a deputy named Wilson get into a hack and drive toward the Almo hotel.

It is alleged that Regan has said Sheriff Bowers turned a prisoner, charged with murder, out of jail to participate in the outrage.

Under Sheriff Mullin went on a trip to Michigan and Wilson to Ohio when the grand jury convened, but they have been located, and, it is said, their capture is certain.

Excitement is very high at Colorado Springs over the arrest, and the Denver detectives who made them have been threatened with treatment similar to that given General Tarsney. Their prisoners were taken away for them by Sheriff Bowers and released on bail.

Is Now Assistant Cashier.

From a recent issue of the Hoxie (Kan.) Sentinel we clip the following:

"Notice the change in the Sheridan County Bank "ad" T. M. Walker continues as President, Crover Walker, has been appointed Vice President; Porter Walker Cashier and E. M. Speer assistant Cashier. This Bank is recognized as one of the most solid banking institutions of Kansas and its increasing business goes to show that it has the confidence of the people."

All our readers will be glad to know that the E. M. Speer referred to in the above is Ed., a son of our genial townsman, Mr. W. T. Speer, and who was formerly general manager of the Western Union telegraph office in this place. We congratulate Ed. on his good fortune and the bank officials are to be congratulated in securing the services of such a competent and efficient young man to fill the responsible position of assistant cashier.

More Work at Altoona.

The working days of the upper Altoona shops have been increased from three to four days a week. The Juniata shops have been running six days a week ever since the construction of the order of class P engines was begun, and they will continue on that time until that order is completed. By that time it is expected that there will be other work to keep them going on full time.

A Valuable Invention.

Mr. Frank Bickford, of the firm of Shafler & Bickford, Lock Haven, and who is well known in Bellefonte, his wife being the daughter of our well-known townsman Mr. Daniel McGinley, is the inventor of a new "set works" for circular saws, which is likely to revolutionize the sawing of lumber with circular saws, and make that kind of manufactured lumber more valuable than it has heretofore been.

The device invented by Mr. Bickford, and for which he has applied for letters patent, does away with the lost motion common to the old rachet system of "set works." Every piece of lumber cut on a circular mill supplied with this new device will be as perfect as can be made on any other kind of a mill.

The circular in the mill of Messrs. Shaffer & Bickford has the new set works, and the practical test of the device which has been in use since last March, has been entirely satisfactory. It has demonstrated the value of the invention and proved its superiority over the old-fashioned kind. The cost of changing the machinery in a mill in which Mr. Bickford's invention is introduced will be trifling, and there is no part of the new "set works" on which the wear and tear will be great, consequently they will be more durable than the kind now in use.

There are thousands of circular saws in use in the United States, and Mr. Bickford has evidently struck a bonanza in inventing so valuable a device for lumber-manufacturers.

Has Seen Some Country.

A lad entered the office of the Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph last Friday morning and asked for some money with which to buy something to eat. After being accommodated he stated that he had ran away from his home in Columbus three years ago and was on his way back. Speaking of his wanderings he said: "I went to Boston and shipped on a vessel for Glasgow. From there I went to London, then to India, China and Japan. Then I went to Australia and from there to Africa. Coming back to London I went to South America, and finally up through the West Indies and reached New York last week, tramping here to Pittsburg. As soon as I get a meal with this money I will start for home and expect to reach there Sunday. I have had some experience which would make good reading, but I have had all the wandering I want."

To Be Improved.

The old Prumer block is soon to be repaired and improved. The plans for the building are now being made by Architect Robert Cole. It will be raised another story. The store room now occupied by C. M. Parish will be enlarged, and entrance will be had from the pavement, instead of having to first climb a flight of steps. Another large store room will be made in the north side of the building, now occupied by the Rhone family. It is said this will be one of the largest store rooms in Bellefonte. The second floor will be occupied as offices, two or three of which will be retained by Dr. Rhone. It will be a splendid location for lawyers' offices, and there is no doubt but that all the rooms will be rented by the time they are completed. The third floor will be fitted up for a lodge room.

May Go to Bellefonte.

If satisfactory arrangements can be made with the Central railroad of Pennsylvania the Lock Haven club may be transferred to Bellefonte. Shortstop Reed has returned from that place and reports that the citizens are very anxious that the nine should remove to that borough, but unfortunately they have no suitable grounds. The nearest ball field they have is at Hunter's Park, and that is under the control of the Central road. If the officials of the company will reduce rates and prices of the park, the club will go; if not it will have to disband. The club expects to hear definitely by to-morrow evening.—*L. H. MILLER—WARD—At the Evangelical parsonage July 19, 1894, by Rev. G. E. Zehner, Mr. Herbert F. Miller and Miss Birdie V. Ward, both of Bellefonte, Pa.

We have seen a number of watch chains ornamented with a pretty charm in the shape of a watch case opener, which obviates the use of a knife or finger nail to open the watch. They are sent free on request by the Keystone Watch Case Company, of Philadelphia, Pa. Your jeweler here may have one for you; if not, send to Philadelphia.

The Keystone Watch Case Company is the largest concern of its kind in the world. Its capacity is 25000 watch cases per day. It manufactures every description of case, but its great speciality is that most popular of all watch cases, the Jas Boss gold filled. These are equal in beauty and wear to solid gold— while they cost only about one-half as much. Boss and other Keystone cases are the only cases that have the famous Non-pull-out bow or ring, which saves the watch from theft and accident. The Keystone Company does not retail, but our local jewelers handle the cases and swear by the thief-proof qualities of the ring.

GETTYSBURG ENCAMPMENT.

The Location of the Various Troops, Companies and Batteries on the History Field.

The division encampment of the National Guard, of Pennsylvania, at Gettysburg next month, will be the largest and most important from a military point of view in the history of the division. It will be called "Camp Samuel W. Crawford," in honor of that distinguished soldier, who led the charge of the Pennsylvania reserves on the famous battlefield on which the camp will be pitched. The encampment will continue eight days. It will be formerly opened at 9 o'clock on the morning of Aug 11, by the national salute of one gun for each state in the union. Lieutenant Colonel Charles S. Green, of Philadelphia, will be provost marshal during the encampment.

President Cleveland, Secretary Lamont and other members of the president's cabinet; General Schofield, major general commanding the United States army, together with other prominent regular army officers, will be present at least one day as the guests of Adjutant General Greenland and review the troops. Investigations have also been extended by the adjutant general to the governors of the adjoining states and their staffs, to former brigade and division commanders of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, adjutant general and ex-Governors Curtin and Beaver.

Governor Pattison will be present during the entire eight days unless he is forced to go way by pressing official business. The three cavalry companies—Sherdian troop, of Tyrone, First City troop, of Philadelphia, and the Governor's troop, of Harrisburg—will concentrate in Harrisburg two days before the camp opens and escort the governor and his staff across the country to Gettysburg.

The division headquarters will occupy the same ground as was used by the major general and his staff at the encampment ten years ago. It is on the summit of Seminary ridge, near the spot where General Lee witnessed Pickett's famous charge.

The cavalry and artillery will be detached from the brigades and will be turned into provisional battallions, under command of the superior officers respectfully. They will occupy the ground along the Union line on the Codori farm, between the Emmittsburg road and Hancock avenue. This part of the field is known as the Bloody Angle, and is directly in front of the place where Pickett's charge ended. The United States artillery and cavalry will occupy the immediate vicinity [illegible] will be stationed [illegible] the southern end of the camp ground. Two regiments will be stationed near Spangler's woods and two others in the rear of the Confederate line of battle, near Seminary ridge. The Second brigade will occupy the whole of Seminary ridge, with four regiments on the west side and the other two on the east. The Third brigade will be compact, and will be located on the Codori farm, on the ground where Pickett's division was massed before making the charge. The parade, review and drill ground will be in front of the camp and will extend to the Emmittsburg road.

The encampment will cost the state about $200,000. Of this $140,000 will be for the pay of the troops and the balance for transportation, subsistence, horse hire, quartermasters' stores and incidentals.

"Love and smoke are unable to conceal themselves" and so it is with catarrh. No man suffering from this loathsome disease, can conceal the fact from the world. No matter how cultured, learned, social or brilliant he is—while his friends may be polite enough to dissemble their real feelings—his very company is loathsome. What a blessing it would be to humanity, if every person afflicted with catarrh in the head, could only know that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will positively and permanently cure the worst case. The manufacturers guarantee to cure every case or forfeit $500. The remedy is pleasant to use, and costs only 50 cents.

Cambria County Mines Closed.

The Spangler Sentinel says: At this writing (Thursday) it is learned that all the mines in northern Cambria are closed but the Summit mines at that place, which are working at the compromise. Stineman & Co., at South Fork, closed their mines on Tuesday evening, for an indefinite period, "on account of being shocked at tidewater." The mines at Patton are all idle. The Elnore mines closed Wednesday evening, as did the mines at Dunwiddie, Campbell & Co., at Hastings. The Delta mine here is closed on account of the drivers' strike. It is said that when the mines resume again it will be when all have agreed on a uniform rate. The operators of the leading companies say that resumption is impossible at an advance, while the miners are still firm in their demands

—The chestnut crop promises to be a large one. The announcement recalls the fact that chestnuts are chestnuts in the eyes of the farmers in comparison to what they were before the war. VIGOROUS HEALTH FOR MEN

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE

When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

Trade Mark. SHAPE & SIZE OF A DOMINO PASTILLE

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

A Persistent Lawlessness.

There is continued lawlessness in the coke regions, and it is not easy to see what the end will be unless some more vigorous and effective methods of repression are applied than heretofore. This condition of things has continued for several months. Alien strikers, more or less armed have been going here and there on the public roads terrorizing the country and driving from work those who had been employed to take there places.

This mob could and should have been dispersed at the beginning of last April but it has been trifled with until it appears to have become a standing menace to the peace in that section. The Governor issued a proclamation which was jeered at and answered by new outbreaks and bloodshed, and the fact that nothing was done to support the proclamation made it a farce and brought the authority of the State into contempt. The Sheriff of Fayette County has repeatedly acknowledged the gravity of the situation, and it has been only too evident that he was unequal to the mastery of it, but there seems to have been some understanding all along by which the militia was not to be called upon for service in that region. The only reason ever given for this was that Governor Pattison wanted to save the Guard for a proper parade at the coming division encampment.

This may be the truth, but it is exceedingly difficult to believe in view of the fact that the chief reason for expending some $800,000 a year on the militia is to guaranty the peace of the State. A regiment or two of the Guard would have ended the trouble in the coke region in a few days. The mere appearance of a uniformed and armed force would have been wholesome admonition to violent and allen strikers who bow to nothing but armed authority. Instead of that disorder has been permitted to continue for four months, breaking out at intervals in open riot and bloodshed. The reports of the past two days show that it is not yet ended.

Such a condition is an unspeakable disgrace to a State like Pennsylvania, and must be felt as a personal humiliation by every law-respecting citizen. It would have been much better for Governor Pattison not to have employed the authority of the State to issue a proclamation if he did not mean to sustain it. It is intended to permit the present situation to continue indefinitely?

"A Greater Pennsylvania."

A New York special of July 22 says: Colonel Isaac Trumbo, who has taken an active part in having Utah admitted as a State, in an interview concerning the resources and the future prosperity of Utah, today said: "The popular impression that Utah is made of wild mountain regions is wrong. Its development will surprise the world. It will be another and greater Pennsylvania.

"Its mountains are filled with minerals and its valleys are so rich that they need only irrigation, for which nature has suppiled abundant water, to be as fertile and as productive as any in the Union. Its coal and iron beds lying half way between Salt Lake, Los Angeles and San Francisco are as good as any in Pennsylvania. Its deposits of gold, silver, copper, lead, nitrate, phosphate, borax, and granites, including lithographic stones and all the valuable potters' clay, only await development.

"With the opening of the railroads, which will be built at once, connecting Salt Lake with Los Angeles and San Francisco, all these resources will be opened to commerce, and the Pacific coast, which now imports 75 per cent. of its coal from England and Australia at a great cost, will be provided with cheap coal and superior iron to stimulate its manufactures."

How Delamater is Faring.

George D. Trawin, of Meadville, returned recently from San Francisco, where he went as a delegate to the Supreme Lodge of Ancient order of United Workmen. On the way back Mr. Trawin stopped at Tacoma and visited George W. Delamater at his home, and reports the stories circulated in Crawford county within the last year that he was building a fine mansion at that place and that he was living in splendor there, absolutely false. He found Mr. Delamater associated with a partner and enjoying a fair law practice and his daughter teaching school and his son, Scott, in one of the city offices. On invitation of Wallace he visited him at his home in the outskirts of the city. They are living in a rented house of comfortable proportions and were pleased to see their Meadville friend.

An Excentric Woman's Death.

The Philipsburg Ledger says: The death of Harriet Sackett, who lived near Smith's Mills, Clearfield county, ended a strange life. Thirty years ago, she and her sister Julia, although suffering in no way, went to bed and refused to rise again. They were then young, and no amount of coaxing could induce them to leave their bed. The mother cared for them, but she died. Afterwards other members of the family carried food to them. In time Harriet became a hopeless paralytic. About four years ago Julia one day astonished the friends by getting up, and she has since acted as other persons. Harriet was always cold, no matter how hot the weather, and unusually slept under a mass of dressed sheep skins. She never gave a reason for their odd conduct.

Another Arctic Disaster.

The reports from Spitzberger leave little doubt that William expedition, consisting of five well-known Americans, including the originator and leader of the expedition, and eleven Norwegians, has met disaster, and in all probability every member of the expedition except Professor Oyen, who was left at Danes Island to guard the depot of supplies left at that point, has perished. As late as July 6 an unusual ice pack blocked all the routes to the north, and the opinion of the most experienced Arctic navigators is that the steamer Regnvald Jarl, which carried the Wellman party, has been crushed in the pack.

While there is still a possible chance that the party may emerge from their Polar journey safe and sound, the undertaking was extra harzardous under the most favorable circumstances and the hazard has been greatly increased by the unusual conditions in the Arctic region during the present season. Wellman's project was to steam north from Spitzberger until the edge of the ice pack was reached, land his party and their equipments, consisting of aluminum sledges and boats and fifty dogs, and try to reach the Pole by six weeks of sledging on the ice, returning to Spitzberger September 1. The success of Peary in skirting and exploring Northern Greenland seems to have inspired the dangerous project, and it is to be feared that disaster instead of success has attended it.

Everyone must admire the courage which prompts expeditions like that of Wellman, but with all the failures that have resulted in the attempt to reach the Pole, one can have little respect for the judgment shown by those who needlessly expose their lives to achieve the impossible. Little good could come to humanity if the Pole was reached, while much suffering and loss of life have already resulted from the many futile attempts to reach it. Wellman and his scientific comrades could have done the world good service in their respective professions had they remained at home in the pursuit of their usual avocations. They have probably lost their lives and ended their usefulness in a foolhardy undertaking which could have benefited no one if they had succeeded. It seems to be about time to put an end to the sacrifice of valuable lives in useless Arctic expeditions.

A Police Trial That Tried.

Police courts in New York work more effectively than in some other towns. When Captain Doherty was put on trial for extorting money for protection the witnesses against him were of the customary bad character, and Doherty and his associates all most solemnly denied their allegations. But everybody was convinced that the witnesses had told the truth, no matter what their character or their motives, and the Police Commissioners did not attempt to whitewash the accused. They peremptorily discharged them from the service.

It is not supposed that the Police Commissioners relished this duty. It is the common belief that by the discharge of Captain Doherty and his associates they hope to satisfy public clamor and relieve themselves of the necessity of a sweeping change in the force. But this confirmation of the testimony before the investigating committee of the Senate is very extensive in its effect. Doherty's case was not exceptional, and it is impossible to single him out among others similarly guilty.

The New York police and their political friends, including the Police Commissioners, pooh-poohed these stories of blackmail for a long time. They had mock trials at which the witnesses never know anything, and the whole agitation was regarded as an idle scandal. Suddenly a point was reached where this whole complacent defense dropped to pieces and now it is a question not how many blackmailers can be prosecuted, but how many can be saved. The lesson ought not to be lost on police officials elsewhere.

SMACKS OF RELIGIOUS PERSECUTION.

Seventh-Day Adventists in Tennessee Heavily Fined for Working on Sunday.

Dresden, Tenn., July 20.—W. B. Capps, a quiet, orderly citizen of this county, is being made the victim of what appears to be a case of religious persecution, the only charge against him being that he performed some work on the first day of the week. Mr. Capps was arrested June 8, 1893, and at his trial before the circuit court of Weakley county, June 27, 1893, he was fined $10 and costs, amounting in all to $51.80. His case was appealed to the Supreme Court of Tennessee, which affirmed the judgment of the lower court, May 24, 1894, at Jackson, fixing the costs at $58.65, making as a grand total the sum of $110.45, to be served out at the paltry rate of 25 cents a day. This will necessitate the confinement of the prisoner 442 days, or one year and nearly three months.

Mr. Capps has a wife 24 years of age, and four children, the eldest being only 6 years old, and one of them sick at the time of its father's imprisonment. His family is left all alone a quarter of a mile from any house. He is a poor man, and unable to support his family during his confinement. He does not deny working on Sunday, but did so because he had rested the day before, according to the Bible; because he recognized his God-given right to labor six days in the week, beginning on the first, as did his Creator; and because, in acceding to the demands of the State to rest on Sunday, he would be denying his Lord. Hence he refuses to pay the fine and costs, regarding them unjust, since the State is attempting to enforce upon him a dogma of religion, with which it can of right have nothing whatever to do. Therefore he has gone to jail, though a physician stated that he could never live in that unhealthy place the time required by the enormity of the State's assessment.—Chicago Herald, July 14, 1894.

THE MERCURY FELL.

So Did the Rain and in Consequence Much Damage Was Done.

MANCHESTER, N. H. July 30.—From 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon until this morning the city was entirely cut off from the outside world by telegraph and telephone a result of the most disastrous storm that has visited this section in years. At Lake Messable, four miles from this city, the storm was accompanied by a cyclone which wrecked buildings, blew down large trees and destroyed much valuable property.

Shortly before 5 o'clock in the afternoon when the thermometer registered 100 degrees in the shade, the first storm struck. In thirty minutes the thermometer dropped 25 degrees, heavy haze settled down over the city, the rain fell in torrents and for forty-five minutes lightning played about the taller buildings in the city and did much damage, several churches and residence being struck and one house set on fire.

At Lake Messable the wind developed into a cyclone. Eighteen or twenty summer cottages were partially wrecked and half that number nearly demolished. The end of a big dancing hall was blown off and the entire section, about 70x30 feet, wrecked. The rest of the building was moved from its foundation and much damaged. There were scores of pleasure boats on the lake when the storm struck and it was feared that some of them did not reach shore. Two small steamers were unroofed, another badly wrecked and a half dozen smaller boats nearly swamped. Numerous barns and outbuildings in the vicinity were demolished.

About 8 o'clock another shower deluged the city and a high wind added to the damage of the afternoon, but the destruction of property was not so great.

At Goffstown, during the first storm, hail stones as large as walnuts fell, and lightning did considerable damage.

As far as can be learned no lives were lost, although several persons were severely injured. The destruction was so wide spread in this section and means of communication are so paralyzed that the full extent of the damage may not be known before to-morrow.

At Newmarket Junction during a heavy thunder storm on Great Bay, last evening, a small boat containing William R. Byrne and Michael Carroll was capsized and both were drowned. Another boat met a similar accident and its occupants drowned.

Danger from Forest Fires Averted.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 30.—Advices received at the main office of the Wisconsin Central railroad say that the high winds have subsided in the northern part of the state and the forest fires have gone down. Train service has been resumed and all trains are again running on time. By to-night all damage to the road will have been repaired.

Filfield was again threatened last night and three hundred citizens were out fighting back the flames. The night was favorable and the danger was averted, with some assistance from Philips.

Near Medford the enraged farmers surrounded the house of a man who had started a forest fire for the purpose of lynching him, but he had left.

Governor Peck's party back from Phillips this morning say that the city will be rebuilt at once, better than ever. This time more brick and stone will be used in the dwelling.

Deputy Sheriffs Sworn In.

Philipsburg, Pa., July 30.—A large number of men of this place were to-day sworn in as deputy sheriffs. They will be sent to the Pardee mines, operated by McGee & Lingle, where a sufficient number of the old men have signified their intention of returning to work at the 40 cent rate to warrant the operators in making a start. This is the first attempt that has been made to start any of the mines on the Beech Creek railroad at the 40 cent rate. It is intimated that in the Osceola, as well as in the Houtzdale district, several more mines will start up at the same rate.

The leaders are doing all in their power to prevent the old men from returning to work. If the miners in this region return to work at the 40 cent gross rate, it will eventually bring the ten or twelve thousand miners in Central Pennsylvania who have secured the compromise price down to their level.

Much Lumber Burned.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 30.—Twenty acres of lumber piles containing about 25,000,000 feet of lumber belonging to the Shevelin-Carpenter Lumber company situated on the west bank of the river within a quarter of a mile of the centre of the city, were destroyed by fire this afternoon at a loss of fully $300,000. In addition to this, the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad roundhouse was burned, together with twenty one freight cars and the valuable Pinsch gas plant. Carelessness on the part of the engineer and fireman of an Omaha engine who neglected to close the dampers of their engine while passing the yards is supposed to have been the cause of the fire.

Numerous fires were also started in different parts of the city, but in every case they were extinguished in short order. The principal losses are as follows: Shevelin-Carpenter Lumber company, loss on lumber in yards, $300,000, fully insured; Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis ann Omaha railroad, loss on roundhouse $7,600; gas plant, $15,000; twenty-one freight cars, $12.000.

Pensive Pencilings.

The world will be happier, perhaps, when the average young man can see as much to admire in his sister as the other young men in her circle or acquaintance can.

"Instruction is but an incidental part of education," says an authority. That is what one would naturally think in reading the sporting paragraphs in the regular reports of college news.

When you like a man just as well after you have traveled 3,000 miles with him as you did before you started on the journey, it is evidence that he is a mighty good fellow, and the experience isn't altogether unflattering to yourself.

When a man says that he is willing to die for his country he sometimes means that he is, if he can die in office.

The man who keeps his eyes always toward the future does better than the man who keeps his eyes always toward the past but both of them miss a lot of fun that they might have in the living present, if they would only be more wise.

—Col. W. Fred Reynolds has decided to make the second story of the new armory he is building on Lamb street for Company B of pressed brick instead of stone, as was originally intended. This change was mostly brought about because of the inferior quality of the stone which they have thus far been using. Not but that the stone are all right once they are laid, but they are so irregular in the rough and hard to work that it was considered best to make the change to brick. We are of the opinion that this change will be a decided improvement so far as the appearance of the massive structure is concerned.

BILLS FOR DAMAGE.

More Money Which Chicago and Cook County May Have to Pay.

Chicago, July 30.—Notices were served to-day by Samuel B. B. Foster, attorney in fact for several railroads, of damages claimed against the city of Chicago and the county of Cook for loss of property during the American Railway union strike The notices were served on the mayor, city clerk, the corporation counsel, the city attorney and the president of the county board, the county clerk and the county attorney. The aggregate damages claimed are $38,660. This represents only about one-tenth of the actual damages claimed, many roads having several days left in which to file their claims. The roads which file claims to-day, with the amount of damages, are as follows:

Lake Erie and Western $10,000, Detroit Grand Haven and Milwaukee $220, Chicago and Northwestern $410, Chicago Refrigerating line $1,000, New York Central and Hudson River Railway company $345 Monon $330. Flint and Pierre Marquette $75, Chicago and Erie $100, Swift Refrigerator line $300, Armour Refrigerator line $100, Central Car Trust Company, of New York, $600, Chicago and Grand Trunk $12 140, Grand Trunk railroad $7,785, Grand Trunk company, of Canada, $5,235. Besides these claims shippers have filed to at least $200,000. This was done by the shippers on the declaration of the railroads that they will pay no claims whatever made against them by shippers for damages to freight handled during the strike. The General Managers' association takes the ground that the city and county in not furnishing adequate protection to the railroads are directly responsible for all damages to freight. The damages to the railroads are cars burned before July 1. It is believed many more suits will be filed by shippers who lost heavily on perishable freight during the strike.

Dr. Parkhurst's Victory.

Dr. Parkhurst has won in the dismissal in disgrace of Captain Douherty of the New York police and seven of his subordinates such victory for practical Chistianity as is of priceless value both to the Church and to society, of infinitely more value to both than any number of heresy trials.

The Christian ideal is based on both the wisdom and the practical necessity of being simply satisfied with making individuals good. Christianity has before it as its distinct purpose and end the work of making society good, of enforcing law, of agitating moral reform and of supporting the civil magistrate to the end that he may not bear the sword in vain and the discouragement and ultimate suppression of the magistrate who blunts the sword of justice.

Dr. Parkhurst addressed himself to this primary but neglected Christian duty against the advice of everybody and the condemnation of nearly everybody. He was doubtless supported by the recollection that the founder of Christianity, who knew and proved how dangerous it is to try to improve society, warned his followers to beware when-men speak well of them, ; but the success of a Christian minister is so generally measured, not by the condemnation of the world but by its praise, that Dr. Parkhurst was the loneliest of men in and out of his calling in the early stages of his work.

He has succeeded. There has been no revolution at the polls which has not repeatedly happened before without accomplishing anything. There has been no changes in the laws. The New York Police Board is practically unchanged. Of its four members three are regarded with suspicions and two are believed to share the wages of iniquity. The system Dr. Parkhurst attacked has been in existence at least thirty years. It was accepted by the public. It enriched hundreds. It had developed as regular, recognized and organized a system of spoliation as existed in France under the old regime or in Turkey to-day, though it is a grave injustice even to Turkey to compare it with New York.

Single-handed and alone, with no strength but that which came from a faith as sturdy and militant as either John Knox's or Savonarola's Dr. Parkhurst opened his attack with no resources but those which any clergyman can command. He has used no means but agitation publicity and prosecution. His method is open to any citizen. It consisted in seeking the enforcement of existing law—nothing more. It has proved enough. The impossible has come. A New York police captain has "lost his buttons" for taking the bribes of shame.

The effect is incalculable. There is not a police officer or official touching crime and the criminal side of life in the entire country to whom the New York revelations have not been a warning. Captain Doherty was reallo removed because he could not account for his rapid accumulation of property on a small salary. The principle is sound. Any man in a post where money can be made by official malfeasance ought to be required to account for and justify any increase in his property or any expansion in his scale of living while in office.

Dr. Parkhurst's triumphant success ought to be both encouragement and example to all engaged in reform. They are prone to ask for new law and to seek to curry election. Their best work will be done by enforcing the laws as they are and forcing officials already in power to do their duty.

Good Night.

"Good night," she said, and closed her eyes,
"Good night"—for evermore,
Across the fields of Paradise
The words seem floating o'er.

"Good night," and each soft faintest word,
Dropped by those whitening lips,
Seem still the sweetest ever heard—
They pierce the dark eclipse
Of weary time without her here—
Each weary, weary day,
That passed darkened and austere
With her we love away.

"Good night," we hear her sweetly say,
While happy hope is warning,
That on some new and radiant day
Good night will be good morning.

FIRES FROM LIGHTNING.

Two Barns Burned at Flemington—A Church Consumed at Pine.

During the heavy thunderstorm Saturday evening, says the Lock Haven Express, lightning struck the barn of Reuben Shaffer at Flemington and set the building on fire. The barn and most of its contents were burned. Two horses that were in the building were killed by the stroke. The flames communicated to the stable on the property of N. W. Fredericks, and it too was burned. The latter was used by O. S. Keley, who succeeded in removing nearly everything the barn contained before it burned. Shafler's barn contained 16 tons of hay, 8 to 10 bushels of wheat, 12 bushels of chop and 16 tons of straw. An ice house and woodshed also burned. One of the horses killed was owned by a William Johnson, of Jacksonville, whose wife was visiting at Mr. Shaffers. The wind was high when the fire occurred and fears were entertained that the conflagration of Mill Hall was to be repeated in Flemington. The Lock Haven fire department was telephoned to for assistance and responded promptly, but were too late to be of any service. The citizens of Flemington, however, appreciated their willingness to assist sufficiently to raise and present to them a purse of $26. Mr. Shaffer estimates his loss at $1,500, on which he has $800 insurance. There was no insurance on the barn of Mr. Fredericks and Mr. Keley's loss is small.

CHURCH BURNED AT FINE.

During the same storm the Evangelical church near Pine station was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. J. R. Wilson and Wilbur Sower were the first to reach the church after it commenced to burn and they succeeded in removing the organ, pulpit and chairs. The loss is $1,800, with no insurance. A small insurance on the building was allowed to lapse a short time ago. During Saturday night some miscreant robbed the corner stone, taking everything of value that it contained. The trustees of the church have decided to commence rebuilding at once.

Atlantic City Notes.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 29.

To-day has proved to be the largest and best day Atlantic City has experienced this season. The crowd that came to the shore Saturday and Sunday was beyond a doubt the largest we have had for ten seasons. We have over seven hundred hotels and boarding houses, including the cottages, and they were all packed from cellar to roof. People were compelled to take anything offered them, or walk the town all night long. The boardwalk and the beach were sights Sunday morning. Standing or walking space was at a premium. There were over fifty thousand bathers in the surf during the day. The following are a few of the Sunday visitors who are acquainted with Bellefonte people now at the Ocean Queen:

Mrs. J. A. Saulsbury, Mrs. G. H. Dalrymple and daughter Bessie, Miss Nanna Delcher, Miss Laura Gwilliam, Mrs. R. Adams and daughter Fannie, all of Baltimore; Messrs. William Darling, Frank D. Chase, W. Stuart Hess, F. E. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Barton, Dr. George F. Levan, Percy Johnson, Miss M. E. Kelly, R. C. Fairlamb and Joseph Guggenheimer, of Philadelphia; Mrs. J. H. Ginebach, Messrs. W. S. Albertson. Charles H. Allen and H. J. Lytle, of Haddonfield, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Fowden, Misses Daisy Field and Ada Banford, of Camden, N. J.; John A. and C. H. Vogt, of Tyrone; Miss Hattie Albertson, of Aura; Robert F. Hunter and wife, and Miss Minnie Bronoel, of Bellefonte; Miss Marie Dobbins, Johnstown; A. M. McClain, Ridgway, C. S. Shields, Williamsport; John A. Edwards, Pittsburg; Misses Laura Downs and Bella R. Kinsloe, of Philipsburg. X

the big blundering, old-fashioned pill, probably. And there's no reason why you should. You can get better help, and more of it, with things that are easier to take and easier in their ways—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're the smallest in size, and the pleasantest remedy, all the way through.

In every derangement of the liver, stomach, or bowels, these tiny Pellets will give you more good. They have a tonic or strengthening effect on the lining membranes of the intestines. This assists and increases the natural action of the bowels, and permanently cures Jaundice, Biliousness, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, and consequent stupor or drowsiness.

For breaking up attacks of Colds, Chills, Fevers, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and kindred derangements resulting from severe exposure, nothing can equal them.

They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, in every case, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get. This is true only of Dr. Pierce's medicines.

What offer could be more business-like?

For colic, cramps, and pains in stomach, nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Extract of Smart-Weed.

Tender Their Thanks.

In recognition of the assistance rendered the people of Mill Hall, Pa., during the terrible conflagration of July 13th, 1894, when the greater portion of the business part of the town was destroyed, the Town Council at their first meeting thereafter adopted by a unanimous vote of that body the following resolutions and preamble.

WHEREAS, Our village has been visited by a most destructive fire, causing great loss of property and greatly impoverishing many of our people, and

WHEREAS, The prompt and efficient efforts of the Lock Haven and Bellefonte fire departments greatly lessened and subdued the devouring flames, be it

Resolved, By the Town Council of the Borough of Mill Hall, that the thanks of this body and the people of Mill Hall are due to his honor, the Mayor of the City of Lock Haven, the Chief Burgess of Bellefonte, the fire departments of the two municipalities and to Hon. J. W. Gephart for their prompt, generous and efficient services in responding to the call of their sister municipalty for assistance; without whose assistance a much greater loss would have been sustained. (Certified from the minute.)

Potters Mills Pickings.

Mr. E. Allison, of Potters Mills, harvested the largest hay crop we have thus far heard of being cut in the county this year. The crop aggregated one hundred and forty four-horse loads, and a number of which were all that could be loaded on the wagons. Mr. Allison is a brother of Mr. Archie Allison, of Bellefonte.

Mr. E. M. Huyett, of Centre Hall, has been very busy of late erecting a large steam saw mill over in the Seven Mountains, one and a half miles south of Potters Mills, along the road to Lewistown. The tract of land on which Mr. Huyett has the timber right contains about eight hundred acres and is thickly covered with hemlock, pine and oak timber. It is estimated that it will take two years in which to cut and manufacture all the timber on the tract. The mill is a very large one and will cut a stick any length from six to fifty feet. A tram road, three miles long, is being built for the purpose of hauling the timber. Mr. Huyett has now in his employ forty-five men and they all speak very flatteringly of the way he treats his men. He is an old lumberman and always finds a market for his product. We wish him success in this new enterprise.

A Frightful Accident.

On Monday Mr. Reuben Crust, of Fillmore, was cutting oats with the selfbinder and his young son was riding one of the lead horses. From some cause unexplainable the horses became frightened and ran away, throwing the boy off and running over him with the ponderous implement. One limb was broken, his left hand cut off and a good portion of all the flesh torn from the arm. The boy was otherwise considerably cut up and bruised, besides being injured internally. At last accounts he was still living, but the doctors had little hope of his recovery, and should he get well he will be a cripple for life. The accident is a most sad and distressing occurrence and the parents have the sympathy of their many friends.

The Logan's Picnic.

One week from to-day, or on August 9th, is the date set for the opening of the new park down at Hecla, on the line of the new railroad, it being the occasion of the Logan Steam Fire Engine company's third annual picnic. The boys are making extensive preparations for a big day, and there is no doubt but that they will have a gala day in every particular. Some of the Lock Haven firemen have signified their intention of being present and the crowds that will likely attend from all along Nittany valley will swell the aggregate to several thousand people. Bellefonte wants to be largely represented and give the boys all the encouragement possible.

—If political lies are noted down by the recording angel the labors of that office are multitudinous. If they are punishable, as they ought to be, there is too much valuable time being absorbed in proportion to the quality of the offenders. They should be handled in job lots.

WISCONSIN TOWN BURNED.

A Few Ruins Are All That Remains of 700 Buildings—Lives Have Been Lost.

PHILLIPS, Wis., July 29.—A few ruins out of 700 buildings stand amid smoke and ashes on the scene of what was on Friday the flourishing city of Phillips, the county seat of Price county. The homeless, except those who have been offered shelter in the neighboring towns, whose people themselves passed a sleepless night through fear of the fierce fires on all sides, had no covering for their worn out bodies last night. Worse than all, at least thirteen people are known to have lost their lives.

RELIEF TRAINS SENT TO PHILLIPS.

PHILLIPS, Wis., July 29.—At daybreak this morning a dense smoke covered an area of forest 100 miles square and the center was this dessolate, fire swept little city. More than 2,500 persons have fled into the forest or to the villages nearby. The town this morning was a heap of ruins and the smoke was so dense that the headlight of a locomotive could not be seen fifty feet away. Three relief trains reached Phillips soon after 6 o'clock this morning. One was in charge of Governor George Peck and his staff. The second came from Stephen's Point in charge of Frank Lemoeaux and Crosby Grant, and the third from Marshfield in charge of Major W. H. Upham, Republican nominee for governor. As soon as he arrived Governor Peck called his staff together and directed the work of loading the provision. There were several car loads of food and a ware house was opened to one of the building. Through the dense smoke Governor Peck started out on a tour of inspection. He soon found two heavy walls of masonry, which marked the place where the two banks had stood. On inquiry it was found that the vaults of the bank contained $52,600, and Governor Peck immediately swore in a dozen men to guard the vaults. They were armed with Winchesters and ordered to remain on duty in two shafts day and nights.

The loss by the great conflagration in its entirtey is difficult to estimate. Out of 800 buildings in the town only thirty-seven remain. B. W. Davis, of the Davis Lumber company, estimates the total loss at $1,500,000, with scarcely half of the full amount covered by insurance. The Davis Lumber company lost fully $500,000 fully insured. There is no way of estimating the number of lives lost in the fire and even after forty-eight hours had passed no one can be found who ventures an opinion of the loss of life. When the people fled before the wave of fire they became separated and can give no account of each other. It is known that sixteen persons perished on the raft that burned in the bayou. A bridge or trestle crossed the bayou and when the supports of this bridge were burned away it fell. Women and children were crossing at the time, and some must have perished. As the fire swept towards the bridge a number of children were seen to take refuge in the big lumber yard. Their cries were heard by others, who fled towards the water, but the children have never been found. Of the ten persons who lost their life on the raft that burned in the bayou, eight are now in the water.

Dynamite was exploded all day in the bayou and a number of bodies were raised by this means.

The true story of this ill-fated raft has never been told. The only man who tells a comprehensive narrative of the horror is Joseph Bellen, a lumberman. He was standing near a boat house when a number of women and children came toward him. There were three or four men following. They went to the raft and attempted to push it from the shore, when it caught fire. Some jumped into small boats and others remained on the raft. All these perished, as the boats were overloaded and they sank. The raft burned to the water's edge.

Change of Superintendents.

It was was officially announced on Saturday that on the first of September Mr. Robert McKnight will retire from the superintendency of the Bellefonte gas plant, and will be succeeded by E. Kitson, of the electric light works, who will still retain the management of that concern. At that time some important changes will be made at the gas plant, chief among which will be the introduction of a new and more economical gas-making machine an invention of Mr. Kitson's brother. We have no doubt but that Mr. Kitson will prove as capable in managing the affairs of the gas company as he has been of the electric light company.

A HUGE PILE OF CONFEDERATE MONEY.

$80,000,000 of Bills Issued by the Departed Nation Shipped to Atlanta.

Eighty million dollars in bills were shipped to Atlanta yesterday, the mammoth packages of money filling five large dry goods boxes and making in all more than a dray load. None of the bills are current however, as they represent "nothing in God's earth now and naught in the waters below it." They were Confederate bills of the rarest type.

The huge pile of Genuine Confederate money was shipped here from Richmond, Va., the former capitol of the Confederacy, and is now the property of Mr. Chas. D. Barker, No 90 S Forsyth Street this city. The money of every denomination issued by the departed nation, and in the big collection are bills of the rarest type. There are bills issued during every year of the war. Thousands of them are very valuable relics, but the greater number of them Mr. Barker has on hand will make them so common as to bring but little on the market.

This eighty millions of dollars of Confederate money has been all along supposed to have been destroyed. This is undoubtedly the largest lot of Confederate Money in the world.—Atlanta, Ga., Constitution, June 4th.

The Captain

Of good Ship Storm King says: For the past five years I have used Sulphur Bitters on board my vessel, and have not lost a man. They are a sure preventive of all contagious fevers so incident to warm climates. Please send me at once two dozen bottles, and oblige J. Starret.

Captured at Last.

Chicago, Ill., July 29.—John W. Love, who was president of the board of trustees of the village of Watkins, N. Y., and cashier of the National bank there, when he mysteriously disappeared Feb. 8 last, was found alive and well in this city last week by a detective, who had been on his track for several months. Love is a prisoner at his old home. The charge against him is the embezzlemeet of $70,000 of the funds belonging to the bank where his father, who died two years ago, was president. Love tried the drowning dodge by leaving his hat and coat and some of his private papers on the shore of Lake Seneca.

The alleged defaulter was a victim of the speculation habit. After he disappeared he was traced to Memphis by the post mark on a letter addressed to his wife. He was known to be playing the races, and a month ago was located at the Hotel Worth here under the name of J. O. Williams, Memphis, and minus his moustache. His identity was clinched by Sheriff Wakeman, Schuyler county, N. Y., who came here for that purpose. Love said he escaped detection at the bank by "fixing" the official examiners.

Deputies Thrust Bayonets Into Miners.

Philipsburg, July 29.—Only the orderly spirit of the miners near Ramey prevented a bloody affray in that place on Friday evening. A crowd of miners occupied a position in an alley in the borough 100 feet from the company's property, when several of the deputies appeared and ordered the miners to move along. The order was not obeyed as promptly as the deputies desired and three of them thrust the point of their bayonets into the legs of as many miners. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the deputies. A meeting of the Pardee miners was held Saturday afternoon to discuss the situation. The meeting was not well attended and a large majority voted against going to work. It is said that an effort will be made to start the mines on Monday. More coal has gone over the Pennsylvania railroad than for three months past.

Eleven Years in Charge

Of the package department, Boston & Maine Depot, Boston, Mass. Miss Helen Jones says: I was a sufferer from general debility, billousness, and water brash for several years, and life seemed almost a burden to me. After using almost everything, Sulphur Bitters cured me.

Brace the Nerves.

Sedatives and opiates won't do it. These nervines do not make the nerves strong, and failing to do this fall short of producing the essential of their quietude-vigor. And while in extreme cases—and these only-of nervous irritation such drugs may be advisable, their frequent use is highly prejudical to the delicate organism upon which they act, and in order to renew their quieting effect increased and dangerous doses eventually become necessary. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an efficient substitute for such pernicious drugs. It quiets the nerves by bracing, toning, strengthening them. The connection between weakness of the nervous system and that of the organs of digestion is a strong and sympathetic link. The Bitters, by imparting a healthful impulse to the digestive and assimilating functions, promotes throughout the whole system a vigor in which the nerves come in for a large share. Use the Bitters in malaria, constipation, bilious and kidney trouble.

MISSING CHILDREN FOUND.

They Strayed Away from Their Home Last Thursday.

Hartford, Conn., July 29.—The three Guinan children who strayed away from their home on Brows street, this city, on Thursday afternoon, have been found, and all three are dead. Chief of Police Bill gave orders this morning that all cars about the depot and the freight yards be thoroughly searched. A few minutes after ten o'clock, policemen who had been searching cars in the yard of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad for about two hours came to a caboose from which sickening odors came. They burst open the door and the stench which had been strong before, became almost overwhelming. Keeping on at their work of investigation, the officers traced the smell to the closet which the brakemen use as a clothes press and breaking open the door they found the three little bodies, naked and mangled by rats.

Freddie, the 4-year-old, lay at the bottom. On him was Raymond, 9 years old, and on top of both was Leroy, 7 years old. Under the three bodies were a few garments the boys wore when they left home. At the autopsy this afternoon nothing was found to indicate violence. The conditions of the lungs indicated death by suffocation and the absence of effusion and other marks about the neck precluded the suspicion of strangulation.

The theory is that the little fellows ran into the car to hide from a passing policeman Thursday afternoon and that the door of the closet swung to and caught them in with the spring lock. The closet is five feet high and its floor space is twenty-eight by fifteen inches. It is impossible that the little boys could have lived in such a confined space, and the doctors think they became unconscious in about fifteen minutes and that they did not live more than fifty minutes after the door was locked on them. It is supposed that the three boys had taken off their clothes to play going in swimming, as that idea was in their minds when they left home.

The earlier symptoms of dyspepsia, heartburn and occasional headaches, should not be neglected. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla and be cured.

THE COXEYITES are in straits, having been deserted by their leaders and being in the ill-graces of everybody else. The tramp craze in organized armies seems to have had its day and those who have engaged in it will probably be content to tramp singly or in pairs the rest of their lives. While the experiment was new the public fed and passed the Coxey tramps on to get rid of them, but when they camped in the vicinity of Washington the community got very tired and contributed nothing but cold shoulder towards their support. They could not live on this very long and when night poaching would produce nothing for breakfast the tramps had to go. They are going, not very much pleased with their new experiment, and it will be a long day before they repeat it.

Pension Bills Passed.

Chairman Martin, of the House committee of invalid pensions, Wednesday succeeded in having passed three bills of a general nature. These were House bills to amend the General act of June 27, 1890, by providing pensions for widows and orphans of soldiers why died or were killed in discharge of duty, and who did not, therefore, receive discharges from the cervice; authorizing postmasters to administer oaths to pensioners; to extend during the term of their natural lives the pension granted to insane, idiot or other permanently helpless orphan children of a deceased soldier. The bill now goes to the Senate.

THREE LIVES LOST.

Firemen Caught Under a Falling Wall in Washington Yesterday.

Washington, July 25.—Clanging bells, roaring flames, rushing engines, crashing walls, agonizing shrieks of horses that were perishing in the fiery furnace—such was the scene that was presented to the eye and ear as Knox's stable at B and Second streets, and the other buildings in that block, fell to the destructive element today.

Not since the big fire in the patent office many years ago has the fire department of the district had to cope with so fierce a conflagration. All its appliances were brought into action, but all efforts were unavailing to save the property from destruction.

Five brave firemen were crushed under the falling walls. Four men were injured by falling walls and timbers and these were promptly removed to the Emergency hospital for treatment. Three of the firemen lost their lives.

Over 200 heavy draught horses nearly all of the company's express wagons and the contents of the large storage building were burned. The Adam Express company's stable adjoining the Knox building to the north, also was almost entirely consumed. About 150 horses were in the express company's stables, but all were taken out by the hardest kind of work on the part of the citizens and policemen.

Eight two story houses on the alley north of the Knox building and two small frame houses back of the Adams stable were destroyed. Six or eight other residence houses were more or less damaged. Mitchell's blacksmith shop on Second street was crushed by falling walls.

The total loss will exceed a quarter of a million.

The bodies of the following named firemen have been removed: Samuel Mastin, Michael Fenton, Dennis Donohue, all of No. 1 fire company.

One of the Knox stable employes was burned and may die. Fully a dozen firemen and policemen were overcome by the heat and had to be carried to places of safety.

The injured are: J. G. Wilson, 525 Eleventh street, southeast, broken leg; James Kelhal, 402 Virginia avenue, southwest, sprained back, seriously injured; Lee Bell, 3202 I street, northwest, burned about hands and face; James Hooper, track A, lacerated forehead; Edward Cahill, citizen, shoulder broken.

The warehouse and stables occupied over a block. The fire was discovered at 2.30 o'clock. A number of men were sleeping in the Knox building and were awakened by smoke. They found the entire rear of the second floor of the building in flames and hardly time to escape with their lives. Before they had left the building the blaze had communicated to the three story rear part of the Adams stables and was darting out of the windows of the second and first floors of both buildings in the rear.

A policeman sent in an alarm through a patrol box. It was a still alarm and brought out two companies and a truck. Five minutes later a general alarm was turned in, and in five minutes more the entire department was on hand. Every company and every fireman was needed. A hotter fire never raged. The flames poured in great sheets from the doors and windows of the great stables. All this was in a very few moments.

A hundred men ran into the express stable and cut loose the 150 horses they contained and turned them into the street.

The horses of the Knox company could not be reached. There were 200 of them and they were on the second floor of the building, which was a seething mass of flames from the very start. The Knox building was a four-story structure of brick.

Situation is Threatening.

Connellville, July 25.—The aspect of the strikers Slav coke workers looks threatening here to-day. Hundreds of them marched in from the south end of the region this morning on their way to the Scottdale meeting, armed to teeth. Many displayed revolvers and knives in their belts, while others carried rifles and shotguns. Presidents Barrett, Davis and McSloy, the strike leaders, heard that the strikers were on their way to the Scottdale meeting, openly displayed firearms, and hastened to stop them. Their efforts caused a disruption among the striking foreigners' ranks. Many of the Slavs refused to give up their arms and President Barrett and Davis told them that unless they did they could not attend the meeting. About one-half of the southern delegates stacked their arms here and proceeded to the meeting, but the others refused to give up their arms and are skulking about the town.

Three more boxes of dynamite were stolen from the magazine house at Porter Hill last night. From midnight last night until early this morning the strikers kept up a continual cannonading with bombs and dynamite. Their object was to fright en negro workers.

Sugar Investigation.

Philadelphia, July 25.—The sugar investigating committee had two witnesses before it this morning. One was Mr. Seymour, of the firm of Seymour, Young & Co., the New York brokers. This witness, in common with all other brokers, declined to answer any questions. Mr. Allison, a newspaper man on the Paint and Oil Reporter, testified that he had seen what purported to be the original order for the purchase of sugar stock, said to have been signed by Senator Camden. George Bruce, of New York Herald, was the only other witness examined.

Members of the committee and persons familiar with its doings, still maintain a consistent silence with regard to the present line of testimony. They maintain that the publication of the evidence at this time would be manifest injustice to senators whose names have been mentioned in connection with speculation in sugar stock, but there is no concealment that the committee is working on sensational ground. As one of them said to-day, "we are getting things down to a fine point. The scent is getting hot."

American Manhood.

Every man should cultivate a decent self-respect. He should not think more highly of himself than he ought to think but then, on the other hand, he should not think too humbly of himself. In this county there are no classes, no masters, no servants, according to the theory of our government, and he is an unworthy and degenerate American who does not act upon the theory that he is just as good as any other man living.

In Asia, or Europe, where the people have been kept in subjection from the beginning, it is not surprising that the servile spirit should exist. But such a thing in America is repugnant to the genius of our institutions. The people are the rulers and the humblest citizen is just as powerful on election day if he sees fit retain his manhood, as the most exalted of his neighbors. And this should be true also during the whole year. If we have the insolence of wealth or the arrogance of power anywhere in this country it is our own fault; we can cure it if we will.

There is nothing more contemptible than the servile spirit. It should not be tolerated in a republic. Every citizen should esteem himself too highly to permit his neighbor to drive him. The world is rapidly reaching that degree of civilization in which the sovereignty of the people is to be a real thing. It is our duty as it should be our pleasure to hasten that day.

Let it not be forgotten, however that true manliness and genuine independence are ever accompanied by a benignant and courteous spirit. Surliness is not a characteristic of true manhood. To be jealous of one's rights and to insist upon being treated with due respect is one thing, to be going about with a chip on ones' shoulder, perpetually daring some one to knock it off, is another. The real man will not suffer wrong at the hands of another, but he will not himself play the role of the bully. He will be gentle in all his ways, kind even to those who have attempted to do him harm, quiet-voiced, slow to speech and yet as firm as the unyielding rock in defense of his manhood and his rights.—Altoona Tribune.

A Means Out of the Difficulty.

Any strain or bending of the back for any length of time leaves it in a weakened condition. A means out of the difficulty is always handy and cheap. Do as was done by Mr. Herman Schwaygel, Aberdeen, S. D., who says that for several years he suffered with a chronic stitch in the back, and was given up by doctors. Two bottles of St. Jacobs Oil completely cured him. Also Mr. John Lucas, Elnora, Ind., says, that for several years he suffered with pains in the back, and one bottle of St. Jacobs Oil cured him.

For Prothonotaries.

A number of prothonotaries in the state are in doubt as to whether the act of 1893 establishing a state medical council repeals the act of 1891 requiring physicians to register so far as to render unnecessary the production of a diploma to the prothonotary as a necessary requisite to practice medicine. Attorney General Hensel has decided that a license granted by the council is primafacia evidence of proper qualification to practice and when this shall have been exhibited to a prothonotary the production of a diploma is unnecessary.

Nearing The Grave.

In old age infirmities and weakness hasten to close the gap between us and the grave. Happily scientific research and pharmacol skill have allied themselves in furnishing us a reliable means of ameliorating the ailments incident to declining years, and of renewing waning physical energy. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a widely comprehensive remedy in disease, and an inestimable blessing to the elderly, the feeble and the convalescent. Rheumatic ailments, trouble with the kidneys and lumbago are among the more common ailments of the aged. These are effectually counteracted by the Bitters, which is likewise a prevention and curative of malarial complaints, dyspepsia, constipation and biliousness. It is highly promotive of appetite, sleep and the acquisition of vigor.

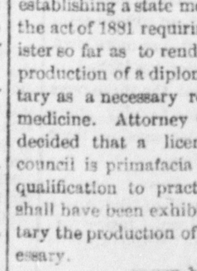
Mrs. Putnam, Forristdale, Mass., says:



"That Bearing-Down Feeling and dizzy, faint, gasping attacks left me as soon as I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am like one raised from the dead. I was sick with womb troubles so long I thought I never could get well."

STONED MR. PULLMAN'S HOUSE.

A Russian Breaks a Dozen Windows and is Arrested.

Chicago, July 25.—Simon Reskins, a Russian, made a malicious assault upon the residence of George M. Pullman today. He hurled many stones at the massive building, breaking out ten or a dozen large plate glass windows. He was arrested, charged with malicious mischief.

Shortly after 7 o'clock the servants in the Pullman residence observed an illclad, rough looking man pacing back and forth in front of the house, which stands at the northeast corner of Prairie avenue and Eighteenth street. He cast sharp glances at the house and before the servants had taken any measures to learn his business or the purpose of his presence, he began throwing stones at the windows. He had thrown perhaps a dozen rocks, each striking and breaking a pane of glass, when the butler and another man employed in the household rushed out to the sidewalk and siezed hold of the stranger. He made little resistance. They started to march him toward the Cottage Grove avenue police station, but a few steps distant were met by a policeman, who had heard the crash of the window glass and were hurrying to the scene. In the pockets of the man's overcoat were found several good sized pebbles, and in the pockets of his coat were found preliminary naturalization papers.

When questioned he delivered himself of curses against the United States government and George M. Pullman. He said Pullman had thrown him out of work. Later he admitted that he had not been working at anything for a year. No weapons more dangerous than stones were found upon him. George M. Pullman and his entire family are in the east; no one but the servants occupying the house.

Is It Cholera?

New Haven, July 25.—Ex-Road Commissioner Thomas H. Sullivan, one of the best known politicians in this city, is lying at the point of death with what is believed to be Asiatic cholera. Last evening shortly after 6 o'clock he left his place of business on Church street complaining of feeling ill. On reaching his home he grew rapidly worse. His family physician was called and diagnosed the case as cholera morbus. All the usual remedies were administered without favorable results.

Another doctor was then called and the two remained with their patient until midnight when the symptoms of rapidly approaching death became apparent. Professor Russell, of the Yale Medical School, was then summoned. When he arrived at 2 o'clock this morning Mr. Sullivan was almost pulseless and had been given up by the other physicians.

Dr. Russell performed the operation of infusing a saline solution and the patient revived soon. Both doctors say that the symptoms are those of Asiatic cholera. Professor Russell, however, is very careful in talking about the case.

When asked if he thought it was really a case of Asiatic cholera, he answered by saying it was difficult to say as no physician in this city had ever had a case of that disease. At noon Mr. Sullivan was still alive, but little hopes of his recovery are entertained.

As to Coal Mines and Miners.

For the first Saturday since before the great coal strike began, coal trains were running on Tyrone division today Considerable coal is being mined in the Clearfield region. The Wigtons, Hoyt & Ashman, and Fishburn, are working full time at the compromise rate.

At Berwind-White Company's Eureka No. 7 mine 105 miners are working, five of them former employees, at the old rate. They are guarded by 35 deputies under Captain Clark. Mind's Webster colliery, well guarded, is working with fifteen new men and a number of the old miners. The Gem mine at Osceola started to work at the old price on Thursday with fifteen old employes. The Anneston Coal company at Barnesboro has decided to start its mines with new men next week.—Saturdays Tyrone Herald.

An Awful Tragedy!

Thousands of lives have been sacrificed, thousands of homes made desolate by the fatal mistake of the "old-school" physicians, still persisted in by some, notwithstanding the light thrown upon the subject by modern research, that Consumption is incurable. It is not. Consumption is a scrofulous disease of the lungs, and any remedy which strikes right at the seat of the complaint must and will cure it. Such a remedy is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a certain specific for all scrofulus complaints. It was never known to fail if given a fair trial, and that is why the manufacturers sell it under a positive guarantee that if it does not benefit or cure, the money paid for it will be refunded. The only lung remedy possessed of curative properties as to warrant its makers in selling it on trial.

—The annual Grangers picnic at Centre Hall will be held this year in Grange Park beginning on Monday, September 17th and continue until the 22nd, through the week.

—It is said that the borough is paying $45.00 a piece for fire plugs, when $14.00 will buy a good plug and $27.00 the best plug on the market. Who is profiting by these high prices?

—On Friday evening, while working on the laying of a new gas-pipe line on Spring street, Mr. Charles Schroyer inhaled too much gas and was overcome. He was quite ill from the effects of it.

—A grand picnic will be held at Hannah on Saturday next by the base ball club of that place. The day promises to be a lively one a game of base ball, dancing and music by the Port Matilda cornet band.

—Four hundred and fifty eight tickets were sold for the Methodist picnic at Clintondale on Thursday. This did not include the Bellefonte band and the infant class, which were hauled free. Everybody was delighted with the park and spent a very pleasant day.

—We have received the first two numbers of the Evening Journal, the new paper started by Editor James A. Fiedler, late of this place, in Williamsport. The Journal presents a creditable appearance and we welcome it to our table with the wish that it may enjoy a long life of uninterrupted prosperity.

—The funeral of Mr. John Delaney, of Milesburg, occurred Friday morning from the Catholic church in this place, Rev. Father McArdle officiating The pall-bearers were Messrs. William Boggs, of Altoona; M. Cunningham and Patrick Ward, of Bellefonte, and George Taylor, Frank Martin and Mr. Poorman, of Milesburg.

—Mr. John F. Potter has returned from Olean where he went to see if the young man found dead there was his son George, and he says he is satisfied it was not; but that the murdered man was a foreigner. The fate or whereabouts of his son is yet as much a mystery as ever. We trust, however, the matter will soon be explained and young Potter turn up safe and sound.

—After an idleness of two weeks on account of not being able to get stock to run, by reason of the recent miners strike, the American Axe and Tool Company, of Mill Hall, resumed work in their factories Nos. 5 and 8 on Monday morning last, and are now running full handed. These factories, when in full operation, employ 180 men and pay out every two weeks from $2,500 to $3,500.

—On Wednesday evening there was quite a social gathering at the home of policeman William Garis to celebrate the 48th anniversary of that gentleman's birth. There were present ten children, eight grand children, Mrs. Garis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, and a goodly zumber of others. There was a general good time all around with music, conversation and refreshments.

—Reader, do you remember when Bellefonte organized a board of trade, some time ago, and how the papers in that town gloated over the great things it was going to accomplish? The Times at the time spoke from the book when it said it said it would only be a short time until it would die, just as our board of trade did. This week the Republican asks "What has become of our board of trade?" This explains all. It has died a natural death.—Tyrone Times.

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recomendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

A NIGHT IDEA.

How Bernard Lauth Invented Cold-Rolled Shafting.

In a recent issue of this paper was noted the death of Mr. Bernard Lauth who for more than sixty years had been identified with the manufacture of iron in the United States and who died at Howard, this county, a few weeks ago. An exchange gives the following account of an interesting period in the gentleman's life.

When he made his invention of cold-rolled shafting he experimented a great deal on thin sheet iron, and was anxious to reach some method by which he could secure a reduction in the thickness of thin sheets and a finer finish for their surface. He knew that he could do this if he could use rolls with a small diameter, but as he attempted to reduce the rolls they would spring and break. One night he and his oldest son, Mr. B. C. Lauth, were traveling from Paris to Stradsburg, when the thought occurred to him that he could place a small roll between two large rolls and get the effect of the small roll and prevent its breaking by the support of the larger rolls. This was the end of the chapter and his son received a thump and a shake to awake him he was informed that he "had it," "Have what?" asked the son. "Why, I can roll single sheets and put a face on them like a looking-glass; that's what I want for Russia sheet iron." He then explained his invention in detail.

A short time afterwards he went to the works of M. DeWendel, at Hyrange, near Metz, and explained his new mode, and suggested to M. DeWendel that it would be a great improvement for cold rolling tinplate. That gentleman said that he would submit the plan to his engineers, which he did, and after a thorough investigation by five of them it was pronounced impracticable. They claimed that the small roll would break. This was a little more than Bernard Lauth could stand, and he said some hard words and begged to differ from them, stating that, with all due appreciation of their very learned technical knowledge, he was sorry to say that they did not know anything about rolling. He then turned to M. DeWendel and said: "I will build this mill at my own expense if you will pay me a certain sum of money if it accomplishes what I claim." This offer was accepted, and the mill was started and did more than was claimed for it.

A Sad Case.

Mrs. Benjamin Welcher, aged 28 years, a resident of Butler's blocks, died on Saturday of dysentery, leaving a husband and three little children the youngest only ten days old. Through the efforts of sympathetic neighbors a decent burial was provided for the dead woman, but the family is in very destitute circumstances and the case appeals loudly to the charity of those who are able to help them. If you are able to contribute anything in the way of food and clothing for the destitute orphans give it or send it to Mr. Frank Butler, who is a very worthy man, a miner and a member of the Methodist church, and will see that the donations are rightly handled.—Philipsburg Ledger.

Clothes Wringer Swindler.

There is a chap going about working a clever swindle. He calls at a residence and represents that he is repairing clothes wringers. If the housekeeper gives him a job he asks permission to take the wringer to the nearest blacksmith shop. At the shop he gets permission to use the tools and in a few minutes has the wringer in pieces. He selects those parts which are good and carries them off. The housekeeper never sees her wringer again. The swindler steals enough parts to construct wringers which look like new. These he sells and gets full price. Look out for him.

To Picnic at Hecla.

The employees of the Beech Creek railroad at Jersey Shore will picnic at Hecla park. The committee visited the park and were much pleased with the location and surroundings. One great convenience is that passengers can be landed right in the park. A ball ground and a small artificial lake were also inducements for selecting Hecla park. Under the management of the efficient committee the year's outing which will occur on Saturday, August 11, promises to be as successful if not more so than any yet held.

A Reduction.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will build this year at its shops in Altoona 100 locomotives. This is quite a reduction as compared with the previous years, when the number was from 230 to 340. While the number of locomotives to be constructed is less than at other times, owing to the financial stringency, the standing of the rolling equipment is maintained.

Gone Crazy.

At the August term of court 1893, Wm. H. Young was convicted of larceny, in taking money from an Italtan in Lyons store and concealed it in his mouth. He was sentenced to 1 year and 9 months in the Western Penitentiary. Since his confinement in that institution he has become crazy, and will be removed to the Danville Insane Asylum. Young is said to be a former resident of Union township.

To Protect Against Floods.

At a meeting held in Williamsport recently to devise means for protection against floods, a novel idea was advanced. It was nothing more nor less than to dig the channel of the river ten fee t deeper and 100 feet wider from the Chesapeake bay as far up as Clearfield.

Dr. Glenn Dead.

Dr. James P. Glenn, a well known physician of Altoona, died at 8 o'clock on Tuesday night at his home, 1412 Tenth street, after a short illness with paralysis, he having been stricken with that disease last Saturday. The deceased was born in in October, 1845, in College township, Centre county. He studied medicine in the office of Dr. Van Valzah, of Boalsburg, meantime attended the lectures of the Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia Becoming a doctor he practiced for twenty one years in Snow Shoe, Centre county, and five years ago went to Altoona, where he has since resided. In 1868 the deceased was married to Miss Anna T. Glenn, of State College. Eight children were born to them, six of whom are living—Boyd, William, Curtin, Carroll, John and Miss Maud Glenn. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Altoona and also of Lodge No. 226, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of Snow Shoe. At 7.30 o'clock last evening a short funeral service was held at his late home by Rev. J. W. Bain. The remains were taken to State College this morning for interment.

S. J. Herring Dead.

On Tuesday the venerable Samuel J. Herring died at his home, on the farm east of Penn Hall ofter a prolonged illness For several years past Mr. Herring had been in declining health. His age was about 65 years. Interment took place this Thursday morning at Heckmans cemetery.

Mr. Herring was one of Pennsvallvs best men, and that means a great deal. He was a man in the highest sense of the word. His integrity was respected by all who knew him. For many years he acted in the capacity of justice of the peace in Gregg twp. and in him the greatest confidence was always bestowed for his ability his integrity and high sense of right.

Intellectually Mr. Herring was above the average. He was of scholarly inclinations and was one of the best informed men of public questions. A constant student of history, with a brilliant menory, he was considered a most entertaining and instructive conversationalist. Mr. Herring was of a quiet, unassuming disposition so that only those who learned to know him could appreciate his worth.

Medicinal Qualities of Vegetables.

Speaking to a physician about the different action of vegetables upon the system during the summer months he remarked that spinach for chronic constipation, celery for rheumatic troubles toma toes for liver complaints, and onions for both laxative properties, are all vegetables medicinal properties, and more agreeable when well cooked than powders and tonics. Any one of them, he said, could be eaten by children in small quantities in their usual form, or made in to pure soups Peas and beans unless grown in one's own garden and gathered when very tender, unusually have so much woody fibre that the very young and those with impaired digestion should only eat them in the form of a puree with their outer covering removed.

Looking for Him.

Twenty years ago in Sunbury a young man named Terrell fell in love with a pretty blue-eyed girl and they engaged to be married. The day was set, but when it arrived the pretty girl, without notice, jilted her affianced and married a man named Lockhart. Afterwards they moved to scranton where Lockhart died. A few weeks ago Terrell, who had never married, met his ex-sweet-heart, now a widow. He renewed his protestations of affection and the day for the marriage was set again and the widow went to great expense preparing for the event. Last Monday was the day selected. Terrell bought his license and went to his room to make his bridal toilet. He has not been seen since, and the widow is now looking for him. It is concluded he was playing for even.

A Wagon Ran Over Him.

Johnson's heavy dray ran over James McSuley, who lives on Logan street, on Wednesday afternoon, and crushed his breast so terribly that there is danger of his not getting over it. The unfortunate man had been down at the Central railroad station and as he is badly crippled with rheumatism he asked Curt Johnson, who was just driving away from the station, to haul him home. Mr. Johnson told him he would do so and wanted to help him up on to the seat, but Mr. McSuley preferred to sit on a box in the wagon. He rode along until Brockerhoff's feed store, on Bishop street, was reached and then fell off, the back wheel of the heavy loaded wagon passing over his breast. He was picked up and carried to his home where he is now suffering great agony. It is supposed that a jolt of the wagon threw him off.—Watchman.

But the Bridegoom Came Not.

The little town of Milesburg had quite a sensation on Thursday night. It was duly announced and preparations made for the wedding of Mr. Cal. Temple, of near Bellefonte, to Miss Mattie Minnemyer of Milesburg, at her parents' home in that place, the ceremony to take place at 7.30 o'clock on Thursday evening. The guests were present, the minister in waiting, the bride all dressed and the supper in readiness, but the expected bridegroom came not.

The time was at hand and passed, but still the young man did not put in an appearance. The bride grew nervous, and everybody else grew uneasy, but continued to wait. Thus time passed until 11.30 o'clock came and still no bridegroom, when the wedding party dispersed. All inquiry has thus far failed to locate the whereabouts of the missing young man. It is said that he went away on Tuesday to hunt work, but where or when he will return nobody seems to know. It was certainly a cruel trick to play on the expectant bride-elect.

Served His Time.

Two weeks ago the last of the bohemian oats swindlers served his term in the penitentiary. Pity all the agents and stool pigeons of that infamous swindle of farmers did not live in Ohio, every son of 'em would have gone to state prison, where they belong. Farmers should organize for the prosecution of every sort of swindlers of their class; this was done by Ohio farmers, and since the Bohemian oats chaps got their dues swindlers are letting Ohio farmers alone. The gang in this section was a branch of the Ohio swindlers, and some of its victims are still here to complain of the wrong done them.

Surely a Tom Thumb.

Lyon County Courier: Vincent Glass, the 11-year-old son of Matthew Glass, who resides between Spangler and Hastings, accompanied his parents to Patton one day this week and was the subject of much curiosity during his brief visit. The lad is scarcely as tall as a child three or four years of age and his weight is but 51 pounds. He is a bright, well developed little fellow and his parents, who are of medium height, cannot account for his not having grown for several years.

Want the Battle Flags.

An effort is being made by the Grand Army of the Republic to have the old battle flags now in the arsenal at Harrisburg on exhibition at the national encampment in Pittsburg in September. A committee of the G. A. R. will wait upon the governor, state treasurer and auditor general for permission to use the flags. If these officials give their consent the flags will be taken to Pittsburg under guard of a dethchment of Grand Army men selected especially for that purpose.

—The third span of the Lewisburg bridge, which was washed down the river by the flood, has been located at Long Level, near Middletown. A portion of another span has been found near Bear Island, about twelve miles farther down the river. Workmen commenced Thursday morning to remove the span which lodged opposite Bainbridge. The span which lodged near Hill Island has all been removed and the iron shipped back to Lewisburg.

Died on Thursday.

At five o'clock on Thursday evening Mr William Brown died at his home on East Lamb street, after a long illness with diabetes. He was aged almost fifty years. Deceased leaves a wife and nine children, all living to mourn his death. Mr. Brown was an old furnaceman and worked for years for the Valentine Iron company.

On The Threshold.

Standing at womanhood's door is she,
Clad in her virginal purity,
A creature fair as the lilies be.
And like the lilies, alas, how frail;
They are borne to earth when the storms prevail,
And their life goes out in the summer gale.

When we see a frail and lovely creature, standing on the threshold between girlhood and womanhood, we shiver with a fear of what may be, because we have seen so many succumb at this critical period of life. What is needed at this time is a tonic and invigorant—something that will promote proper functional action of the female organs. The only remedy to be depended on is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This unequaled medicine, which cures diseases peculiar to women, is especially valuable at the period when the girl crosses the threshold of womanhood. Used at such a time, it never fails to produce a most beneficial result, and many a fragile girl has been tided over one of life's most trying periods by it.

—Members of Company B must not forget that Friday is the day for the outing at Hunter's park. Every member should be present.

—Col. W. Fred Reynolds has had a durable and handsome wire fence erected around his spacious grounds on the corner of Linn and Allegheny streets.

—George Shroyer died at his home near Milesburg on Saturday morning of consumption. Deceased was aged about forty four years and was unmarried. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon.

—The funeral of William Brown was held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, interment being made in the G. A. R. lot in the Union cemetery. Mr. Brown was an old soldier, a member of the famous 45th regiment.

—The Jersey Shore gypsies, under the chieftanship of Mr. Will Hepburn, put in two days last week encamped at Cold Stream dam, near Philipsburg. They were headed for Punxsutawney and were having a royal good time.

—Wasn't that a delightful rain that fell on Sunday? It rained hard while it was at it, if it had only continued longer. But then we should be thankful that we got what we did, as it will be very good for the growing corn and late potatoes.

—Blackberries are becoming ripe very rapidly on the mountain just now, and the people are making for them in droves as it were. Men, women and children can be seen every morning with their buckets heading for the several localities where the berry is to be found.

—On Friday Company B will go up to Hunter's park for a day's outing and drill work. Free transportation will be furnished every member of the company. It is desired that every member be present. The company will go up on the train departing from the P R R depot at 10:50 o'clock.

—The Central R. R. of Pennsylvania, ever on the alert to not be outdone by their competitors, will have their excursion to Atlantic City, August 23d. Owing to the distance, a rate of $5 has been decided upon, but the public may be assured the fare will be no less as any offered by the other road, and tickets good for fifteen days.

—In a little over a month the school bells will again ring in the boys and girls to their studies. The army of bright faced pupils from here, there and almost everywhere will reappear on our streets, and to crisp crunching of peanuts and disrobing of the mellow banana the fall term will be ushered in. That's something pleasant to look forward to.

—We learn that Mr. J. A. Woodcock has accepted a general agency for Central Pennsylvania with the Northwestern mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee. His headquarters will be in Bellefonte and he has opened an office on High street, opposite the Court house grounds. With Mr. Woodcock's successful experience as an underwriter, and with so popular a company as the Northwestern, we bespeak for him a successful future.

—The Central Railroad company of Penna. Wednesday gave an excursion to the ministers, press representatives and a few others of Williamsport, Jersey Shore and Lock Haven over the new road to inspect the parks at Clintondale and Hecla. After this was done the entire crowd, numbering almost one hundred persons, was brought on to Bellefonte and given a good dinner at the Bush House. It is needless to say they all enjoyed the trip.

—An immense traveling crane recently erected in the yards at the Johnson works was put into service lately. The new crane is the largest of the kind ever built in the United States. Under its beam and between its track hundreds of men work; other large traveling cranes, locomotives and box cars pass under it and look as toys compared with the colossal machine. The beam of the crane is 185 feet in length and its work covers the entire laying out yard of the switch works. To look at the crane from a distance it resembles an iron bridge. The engine house is two stories high. Its work thus far has given satisfaction. It moves about with as much ease as the smallest crane at the works.

—Fifty-two persons took advantage of the P. R. R's cheap excursion to the sea shore Wednesday from this place. Among the number were Mrs. Jonathan Harper and her two daughters, Misses Maud and Jennie; F. W. Crider and family, J. A. Woodcock and son, Gotlieb Haag and wife, Mart Garman and his cousin Miss Rebie, Charles Cruse, Henry Lyon and Edward Greenslade, Misses Millie and Lulu Smith, Lizzie Gross, Lizzie Hazel, Christina Ceaders, Annie McLaughlin, the Misses Curry, J. C. Meyer and wife, Miss Annie Shortlidge, Mrs. E. Kitson and a lady friend, Mr. J. M. Parker, of Curtin, and J. H. Kessinger and son, of Hublersburg, as well as others who we failed to notice. May they all have an enjoyable time.

OVER THE READING TO ATLANTIC CITY.

A Reporter of This Paper Takes a Trip, by the New Route to the Sea Shore, and Writes It Up in Glowing Terms.

The summers come each passing year bringing with them an intense desire for a change of scene and circumstance. The banker who has been closely confined to his counting room for nearly ten months, perhaps; the merchant who has been worried hours upon hours over his business prospects; the mechanic to whom rest is so often a stranger the year through; the common laborer, whose monotonous daily toil makes life seem dull and uneventful; the professional man whose brain is taxed from morn till night to make his life successful—in fact every class and condition of men, when the festive months of summer again roll around, desire to get away from their wanted scenes of responsibility and activity to resorts where pleasures without number assure the needed peace and rest to mind and body. The Philadelphia and Reading railroad company, fully aware of the situation and determined to carry out this motto "favor and please the people," has planned to run excursions periodically at rates so cheap that the poorest even, if they look ahead, can find it possible to enjoy them. They have been provided to please the masses and they are being appreciated. The first of these popular excursions was given on the 26th of July, and through the kindly courtesy of Supt. J. W. Gephart and general Freight Agent Frank Warfield, of the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, and the officials of the Reading system the DAILY NEWS representative, together with a reporter for the Watchman, was permitted to take his first trip to Atlantic City over the Philadelphia and Reading road. And a delightful trip it was, beautiful beyond the power of description and more enjoyable than words can tell. Leaving Bellefonte on the 5.25 train on Wednesday evening we traveled the first link in the journey's chain over the enterprising road of the Central Penna., traversing, as is known, one of the richest and most picturesque valleys in the state and coming out at Mill Hall, the terminus of the road, only to be transferred after a wait of five minutes to the speedy Beech Creek train. Soon again we were rushing along passing Castanea near Lock Haven, then Jersey Shore was sighted and left behind and at 8 o'clock the familiar cry of "Williamsport" was shouted out by the conductor, and the second link was terminated. The extended courtesy of Messrs. Gephart and Warfield was now enjoyed, as we found that provision had been made by them for our entertainment over night at the famous Park Hotel, which has no superior in Pennsylvania. Mr. Chas. Duffy the genial and generous proprietor, at once made himself friendly and thereby assured us that our brief sojourn in the lumber city could never be regretted. Mr. Duffy's hotel, elegant and spacious as it is, thoroughly renovated and equipped, newly papered and painted and now provided with an elevator, is a handsome large brick and stone structure, practically fireproof, located in a beautiful park of five acres, shaded by grand old native forest oaks, illuminated at night with arc lights and surrounded by some of the finest mountain scenery in the state. The briefest observation will convince anyone that the Park Hotel is equipped with every modern improvement and is strictly first-class in every sense of the word. We slumbered during the night in a large double front room that was furnished handsome enough for a parlor and was as airy and cool as a room by the rolling waves of the ocean. Early we were called for breakfast which we enjoyed thoroughly and convinced ourselves that the steward in charge of the culinary department was master indeed of his art. Mr. Duffy bade us a kindly farewell and we were hurried off in one of the hotel cabs to the Phila. and Reading station where we found the special excursion train destined for Atlantic City well filled and about ready to start. And so we embarked with grateful remembrances of the recent kindnesses that have made our trip thus far so successful and happy.

We at once made the acquaintance of our handsome and courteous friend, Mr. Bansher, the traveling passenger agent of the P. & R. road and to him we owe an obligation that we can never repay, for his almost constant presence with us made the journey to the sea shore resort not only exceedingly pleasant by reason of his jollity, but instructive and interesting as well, for he and his agreeble companion, Mr. S. W. Stevens, traveling freight agent of the road, pointed out and explained every one of the many points of interest along the road. A jolly party we were. In addition to those already named there were in our little circle the Misses Weaver, of Montoursville; Messrs. A. D. Knapp and William Updegraff, of Williamsport. Together we enjoyed all that was to be enjoyed, so by the time we had reached our destination by the sea all that had passed seemed like a midsummer day's dream. Such scenery! Such beauty in nature! Who would presume to do justice to it? Lofty mountains, sparkling gently flowing rivers, rich valleys dotted with woods and checkered with beautiful farm lands—all these presented a picture that the eye could never weary of beholding; and particularly superb was the scenery in the lovely Muncy valley from Williamsport on down to Sunbury, which has been described as "god's own country." But with all this beauty there were traces of the recent flood on every side, for hundreds of logs were washed away up on the hill sides as well as in the meadows, and here and there spans of bridges over the river were entirely gone from their pillars and lying out in the deep or on the shore wrecked and ruined. It is worth a trip over the Phila. and Reading road just to witness these scenes. Passing by Bucknell University we soon witnessed a scene of exceptional interest. On the North branch of the Susquehanna, between Northumberland and Sunbury we found men dredging and gathering on flat boats the coal that had been washed down the river during the flood from Nanticoke and Wilkesbarree. Once gathered, this coal can be sold for little less than the average price. Just before reaching Sunbury the road passes through an immense curved bridge which is pronounced to be a wonderful price of engineering. On Sunbury we crossed the Penna. railroad tracks and viewed on the distant mountain peak unique hotel, "Shickellimy," 400 feet above the P. & R. road bed. An attractive looking resort, that's certain.

A little further down the road farmers could be seen screening the coal that the flood had brought from Shamokin and left on their fields. At Shamokin the road passes by the first colliery and an imposing sight presents itself in the lofty mountains of coal dust—the accumulations of years. The mines through this region are generally owned and operated by the Phila & Reading company. Just before reaching Alaska we saw the little red house in which Hester, one of the Molly Maguire leaders, had conceived and developed many of his treacherous designs. One of the prettiest horse shoe curves in the country can be seen a short distance beyond this point, while the scenery through Locust Gap is extremely picturesque. Our attention was called to the scene where in the summer of 1888 a freight train broke on the grade and came together again, the powder cars attached causing an explosion that tore up the tracks and blew to atoms the houses in the vicinity. One can faintly recognize the traces of the foundations, so complete was the destruction. A mile beyond this is the summit and it is interesting to note how gradual the ascent is made and then the descent in turn. The heaviest grade at the summit is about 187 feet. Ashland next, appears a thrifty little town, built on the hill side with streets as straight and parallel as can be. Girardville must claim your notice also, for there is visible the old homestead of Stephen Girard, in the midst of an estate that includes about 4500 acres. At Mahanoy plane it was interesting to watch the coal trains sliding up and down the incline a quarter of a mile in length. By taking a stage or walking to this summit, a distance of 30 miles can be cut off to Pottsville. It is well to be prepared for Mahanoy tunnel, for there you can change a collar if necessary. It is a mile long and as straight as an arrow. It was nearly time for luncheon now, and so when we reached Tamaqua we indulged in milk and pie and fruit. Thence we sped on, passing under the Lehigh Valley road, and finally reached Reading with our train of sixteen cars. But short was our stop here and soon we were on our way again through scenery at once varied and beautiful, almost flying by Pottstown, Bridgeport and Manayunk and at 2.10 p. m., the schedule time to the minute, we pulled into the terminal station at 12th and Market streets Philadelphia.

This exquisitely grand structure has been described so perfectly and in such detail in the Philadelphia papers that it is unnecessary to describe it now. Suffice it to say, however, that in points of beauty, richness, comfort and convenience there is no station in the world, perhaps, that can surpass it. At 3 o'clock we met again on the Camden side, after a delightfully breezy voyage in the ferry boat, and so finished the third link of our highly enjoyable journey. And now comes the link that surpassed all others as to speedy and comfortable traveling—the link that is the fourth and last and almost straight for a distance of nearly 60 miles. It is said that the Philadelphia and Reading company made Atlantic City—if that is so, it is due to two or three causes. They have the fleetest engines and burn authracite coal, thus assuring cleanliness and comfort to all. It is the only company that runs a double track to that point and on the same road bed, and, therefore, naturally can tender the best service to the public. The distance is made in one hour, and it will not seem extravagant when we remark that you travel along like the wind. There is no adjective that can accurately describe the pleasure and satisfaction experienced during that last link from Philadelphia to Atlantic City. The cars are always comfortable. The road bed is the finest and the courtesy of all the officials of the highest type. Leaving Camden at 3 o'clock we arrived at the shore at 4 o'clock and under the leadership of our jovial guide, Mr. Bansher, we found the way to the Mansion House cab and were driven off to that queen of Atlantic City hotels. Every possible courtesy and attention were extended to us by proprietor McClade. Comfortable rooms were at once provided for the party and thither we hied ourselves to wash and rest that we might enjoy our suppers and be prepared for the first night's pleasures by the seaside. The appointments of the Mansion House are perfect and the best possible service is provided there for those who desire the most comfortable and attractive quarters and a first-class table fare

We slipped around to the Ocean Queen hotel managed by Mrs. Nolan, formerly of Snow Shoe, and we found her receiving a good share of a generous patronage. The rest of the experiences at Atlantic City need not be detailed here. It is simply the old old story of Sea Shore fun and romance. The crowds were great, increasing daily and the record will show that this is one of the best seasons ever experienced at that popular resort. The writer tarried here a little longer than a day and then returned to Philadelphia.

After visiting friends in that city, a call was made on Mr. Charles Heebner, once a teacher of classics in the Bellefonte Academy, now Assistant General Solicitor for the Phila and Reading road. It goes without saying that our call was a pleasant one, as Mr. Heebner always lives out what he looks to be—a perfect gentleman and a true and generous friend to all who would court his friendship. Through his kindness and that of General Passenger Agent Hancock the courtesies and benefits of the Reading road were extended to the writer as far as New York city and that is where we are now. Tis a delightful trip by the Bound Brook route, passing through Jenkintown, Pennington, Bound Brook, Plainfield and Elisabeth with only three grade crossings on the road making it possible to traverse the distance of 90 miles in two hours. The trip from Bellefonte to New York city over this road is lovely and it will prove a great pleasure to those who have never taken it to travel by that route on their next trip

The Phila. and Reading road caters to the interest and purposes of the people; aims to be generous even where competition does not exist; has a mileage book system on a principal of justice; traverses a region on its eastern course not over familiar to a majority of our people and where continually points of interest are to be noted by the way. It has struggled in the face of heavy odds and difficulties to continue its generous service to the public; and, therefore, in consideration of these advantages, the Phila. and Reading company has a strong claim on the patronage of the public. The next big excursion to Atlantic City over this road will occur on August 23rd at a very low rate. Then it will be your golden opportunity to enjoy for yourselves the beauties and benefits of that route. Thanks are due to the management of the new Central Pennsylvania railroad for giving us access to such a system as the Reading.

THEIR FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. M. Smith, of Milesburg Celebrate the Event.

Wednesday evening, July 25th, a large and enthusiastic party of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Smith's warm friends and appreciative relatives assembled at Mr. Smith's cozy home in Milesburg, to join with the two aged people in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. The friends with their gifts, congratulations and good wishes, began to assemble about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. By 6 o'clock the large table, which served as a receptacle for the presents, was piled to overflowing with china, linen, silverware, rugs, dress goods, throws, etc., too numerous to mention, all contributed by friends as tokens of their regard for Mr. and Mrs. Smith. From their children they received the handsome sum of $50 in gold; the absent ones contributing liberally toward this donation. The guests to the number of 106 were in the early evening regaled with a sumptuous and delicious repast, spread on tables neatly arranged around in the yard, beneath trees decorated with brilliant Japanese lanterns.

Mr. Smith is 72 years of age and Mrs. Smith is 69. Among the relatives present were Mrs. Smith's two sisters, Mrs. Swyers and Mrs. Lucas, both of Milesburg. Mr. Smith's sisters were Mrs. Wilson, of Beech Creek and Mrs. Rorabaugh, of Marsh Creek were there, also his brother, Mr. Archie Smith, of West Port, accompanied by his wife.

The children and children-in-law were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. John Logan, of Elmira, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Smith, of Cooks Run, and Mr. and Mrs. Newton Jones, of Milesburg. Two of the children were unable to be present. Thirteen grand-children and four great-grand-children were on hand to lend their mirth to the occasion. A photograph was taken of the connection, grouped artistically in front of the old homestead.

The Citizen's cornet band of Milesburg, was present and entertained the guests by rendering a number of selections in their usual effective style.

All had an exceedingly enjoyable time. We trust that Mr. and Mrs. Smith may enjoy many more happy days of wedded life as is the unanimous wish of all who know them.

Tyrone Wants It.

Lock Haven is tired of her base ball club, at least they do not patronize it sufficiently to keep it out of debt. The club wants to go to Bellefonte. Tyrone might have it if we want it. The Lock Haven club has been playing good ball and although the season is late, a short season of ball in Tyrone might pay.—Tyrone Times.

Will we get the Ball Club?

Will Bellefonte get the Lock Haven ball club for the remainder of the season? is a question now being considered by a number of our local sports. The main objection heretofore raised of trying to support a club in Bellefonte because of the expense in getting to and from the ball grounds is in part removed by the railroad company, which has agreed to reduce the fare so that 35 cents would cover the fare and admission to the game. This is as fair an offer as could possibly be made and places the ball grounds literally within the precincts of the town, and will do away with that thing as a reason against bringing the club here.

It is true, as has been reported, that a number of Lock Haven's good players have been released and joined other clubs, but there is still enough good material in "the woods" to perfect an aggregation of ball players that could meet and defeat even the best of the State League teams; and they would all like to come to Bellefonte. They would sooner locate here than anywhere else. Some of the State League players have even signified their desire to come to Bellefonte to finish the season, and it would be no trouble at all, to get together nine or ten men who would make up a team fit to match anything. Then why not do it? Let our local sports get together and get a club and give us a taste of base ball before the season is over.

Words of Wisdom.

Some of the railway companies which before the strike had from ten to fifteen thousand employes and that with the great reduction in business can now get along with half the original force. A multitude of men who held good places will remain in enforced idleness until commerce recovers. For all this they can thank Debs and his lieutenants.—Inter Ocean.

"There is no dodging the fact that any policy, no matter by what name it is known, that closes the factories of this country; that bankrupts the railroads; that destroys our great industries; that robs the laborer of employment and fills the country with a vast army of unemployed who know not where to look for bread; that robs the farmer of his market that robs the people of confidence; that disturbs business and fills the people with want, misery and dispair, is un-American and unpatriotic.—Hon. Charles Curtis of Kansas.

—There was no election of a second lieutenant for company B Monday evening. There were but two candidates Geo. B Jackson and Harry Keller. Jackson had 25 votes and Keller 20, but as neither had a majority of all the votes in the company, the election was postponed until the next meeting night.
